China, France Set Off A-Bombs

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL
China and France exploded nuclear bombs in the atmosphere only hours apart today, the first time in history two such tests were reported carried out in one day. (See also story, page 2.)

The Chinese blast deep in the Asian desert was described by the Indian Atomic Commission as a one-megaton blast — equivalent to 1 million tons of TNT. It dwarfed the French test in the Pacific which New Zealand officials put below the 20,000-ton range, probably a missile warhead.

Neither France nor China announced the tests but they were confirmed by outside monitors.

The Indian monitors said China's explosion took place in the Lop Nor testing area in Sinkiang province, about 1,500 miles west of Peking, at 2 a.m. EDT.

A one megaton bomb has 50 times as much explosive power as the atom bomb dropped on Hiroshima.

In Washington, Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger told a news conference China's test "simply reflects the slow paced Chinese research program." He said the pace of their program was "not high but reasonably successful."

No time was given for the French test at Mururoa atoll, which was announced by the Australian and New Zealand prime ministers.

"On the basis of the signals obtained at our monitoring stations," the Indian announcement said, "the explosion was conducted in the atmosphere and had a yield of approximately one megaton of TNT."

In Wellington, New Zealand, Prime Minister Norman E. Kirk said the French test was a "sizeable explosion" under 20 kilotons.

Australian Prime Minister Gough Whitlam first announced the blast in Canberra earlier today. Neither would reveal the source of their information but there was speculation that warships of either the British, American, Australian or New Zealand navies are doing the monitoring.

"Civic groups," Kayfetz said, "shouldn't have to send attorneys gallivanting off to Washington to fight their elected county government."

Cycle Crash Kills Young Petaluman

A young Petaluma man died Saturday from injuries received in a car-motorcycle crash on Petaluma Hill Road between Cotati and Santa Rosa.

Gary Lee Strain, 21, of 775 Palm Drive, was dead on arrival at Community Hospital in Santa Rosa after his cycle and a car driven by William C. Metcalf, 49, of Santa Rosa collided according to the highway patrol.

Officers said Metcalf's northbound auto made a left turn into the path of the southbound motorcycle. Patrolmen said Metcalf told them he didn't see the cycle.

No charges have been filed against Metcalf, the highway patrol said.

Strain was Southern Sonoma's third traffic fatality of the year.

Oil Price Frozen

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI) — The world's leading oil exporting nations today announced that the posted price of oil will remain frozen for another three months.

Petaluman Arrested In Fairfax Apartment Fire

A 25-year-old Petaluma man was arrested on suspicion of assault and battery and arson yesterday following an early-morning blaze that gutted the Fairfax apartment of a former girlfriend.

Jerry Eugene Hartman of 520 Corona Road was booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $10,000 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Fairfax police said Hartman visited 22-year-old Pamela Garfield of 118 Taylor Drive in Fairfax while she was babysitting at a neighbor's home on Saturday night, pulled a knife and threatened to kill her and burn her apartment down.

Hartman left the neighbor's home and a few hours later Miss Garfield's residence at 118 Taylor Drive was gutted in a blaze that did $10,000 damage, according to police. No one was injured.

Police said arson investiga-

Impact Statement Request Supported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas today barred, pending appeal, the start of excavations in Sonoma County for the proposed Warm Springs Dam.

Douglas said in a nine-page opinion that the Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ) had found the environmental impact statement "deficient," despite the contrary conclusions of U.S. District Judge Spencer M. Williams of San Francisco.

"That agency determination is entitled to great weight," Douglas said, "...and leads me to grant the requested stay pending appeal in the Court of Appeals to maintain the status quo in the construction of Warm Springs Dam."

Douglas had stopped the excavations temporarily on May 30 pending receipt of more information from the government.

Douglas had been asked to act by a group of civic organizations and private citizens.

"I'm very jubilant," said attorney Paul Kayfetz of Bolinas who represents a coalition of Marin and Sonoma groups which oppose the dam. "But I also find it incredible that the civic groups which I represent have to go to this extraordinary effort to force the county government to do what it should be doing to protect the interests of all the citizens."

Sonoma County, Kayfetz said, "has made a great effort to get this thing half-built so the voters won't be able to decide on it for themselves in the November 5 election."

(Although the Warm Springs question has not yet been placed on the November ballot, dam opponents are hoping to have a referendum in November so voters can decide whether Sonoma County should allocate the estimated $34 million in county funds needed for the dam's construction.)

"Sonoma has had a county counsel in Washington for three weeks — in a fifty-buck a night hotel room — in an effort to rush the project through," the attorney charged. "It's a perversion of everything the county should be doing."

"Civic groups," Kayfetz said, "shouldn't have to send attorneys gallivanting off to Washington to fight their elected county government."

Gordon L. Miller, director of the Sonoma Water Agency,

Douglas noted in his latest opinion that the dam "will sit atop an earthquake fault running along Dry Creek." The town sits below "the wall of water" the dam will hold back, he said.

"A contract has been made for further dynamic analysis of the safety of the dam" Douglas wrote.

"Should that analysis indicate that the dam is potentially risky, the Corps (of Engineers) would have no choice but to consider abandoning the entire project."

He said that although the district court felt the Corps had "dealt adequately" with the problem of earthquakes and possible contamination of water supply, the two federal agencies "most intimately familiar with environmental issues" — the CEQ and the Environmental Protection Agency — have submitted statements that "undermine the determination of the District Court."

Douglas said he is concerned at a trend to "downgrade the mandate of Congress, to use shortcuts to the desired end, to present impact statements after a project has been started and when there is already such momentum that it is 'difficult to stop.'" He said there are even some cases where the contractor to build a project is the one who prepares the environmental statement.

"One hesitates to interfere once a project is started, but if the congressional mandate is to be meaningful, it must be done here," Douglas wrote.

Another Roaring Mideast Welcome

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — President Nixon, announcing the United States would provide Israel with the same nuclear technology it promised Egypt, flew today to Jordan where guns, bagpipes and loudspeakers boomed an ear-splitting welcome on the last stop of his Middle East journey for peace.

The presidential party was back in the Arab world only 22 minutes after taking off from Ben Gurion Airport outside Tel Aviv, Israel, and just hours after Nixon and Israeli Premier Yitzhak Rabin issued a communique announcing the nuclear agreement and other new U.S. technical and economic assistance.

Eight F105 Starfighters, which Jordan obtained from the United States, escorted the President's plane from the moment it entered Jordanian airspace and roared overhead as Nixon and King Hussein reviewed the honor guard of troops.

Hussein, a frequent visitor to Washington, has always maintained good relations with the United States and his army is equipped with American and British weapons.

The King, with Queen Alia, greeted the Nixons as they waved to the crowd and descended the stairs from the plane. A 21-gun salute boomed out, and huge loudspeakers proclaimed:

"Welcome to the great President Nixon. Welcome to the guest of King Hussein. Welcome to the eternal land of Jordan, to the land of the (Arab) cause."

Massed bagpipe bands of Jordan's formerly British-trained army played march tunes during the airport reception, which was broadcast live on Amman radio.

"The Arab and Islamic masses attach great hopes at this particular stage to the attitudes the United States will follow and take after this historic visit by the American man of peace," the announcer said,

"particularly to those attitudes related to the return of Arab sovereignty over Arab Jerusalem and all other Arab territories Israel occupied during the 1967 war."

While Nixon and Hussein reviewed the troops and greeted some 100 government and mili-

Kissinger Sees Mideast Peace

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, leaving the traveling White House to attend a NATO meeting in Ottawa, said today the Arabs are now willing to recognize Israel's existence and that for the first time in 26 years Mideast peace was possible.

He left Ben-Gurion International Airport for a NATO foreign ministers meeting about an hour before President Nixon took off for Amman, Jordan, on the fifth and final leg of his Middle East tour.

Kissinger told a news conference the Arabs are now willing to recognize the existence of Israel as a Middle Eastern state.

He said he thought the negotiations between Egypt and Israel, and Syria and Israel, engineered by the United States since the October war, had resulted in a gradual depolarization that for the first time in 26 years made peace possible in the Middle East.

"It is our conviction that for the first time the Arab states, even the more radical ones like Syria, are talking about a continuing state of Israel, and some of the Arab states seem to have made a crucial decision to work out the modalities" of coexistence, Kissinger said.

"I believe that as a result of this trip Israel will understand that its long term security is better guaranteed by what is going on," he said.

Kissinger referred to Israel's concern about the U.S. promise to give Egypt nuclear capability in six to eight years with the construction of an atomic power plant. The United States and Israel today agreed to a similar project.

The announcement was made in a communique signed by President Nixon and Israeli Premier Yitzhak Rabin near the end of Nixon's visit to Jerusalem. The communique said the two countries will reach provisional agreement on further sale of nuclear fuel to Israel in the coming months.

The U.S.-Egyptian nuclear agreement, announced Thursday, caused fear among some Israeli leaders, including Menachem Begin, leader of the right wing opposition party, who thought it would give the Cairo government the ultimate ability to make nuclear weapons.

Kissinger said today he was confident the safeguards would prevent this but added, "We will review the agreement to make double sure there are no loopholes."

Fire Damages Massage Parlor

A fire swept through a downtown San Rafael massage parlor early yesterday causing $12,000 damage to the building and its contents, according to firemen.

Cause of the blaze, which broke out about 5 a.m. in a rear sauna area is still under investigation.

Three trucks and 11 men responded to the alarm and contained the fire in about 15 minutes. Interior furnishings were heavily damaged by smoke and the building sustained heavy structural damage.

Beef Drop Seen

DENVER (UPI) — The American Cattleman's Association says beef prices throughout the nation have dropped 26 cents since February.

A woman passenger was arrested with the two men but released for lack of evidence shortly afterward.

Bail for each of the men was set at $25,000.

11 Hurt As Bomb Hits Parliament

LONDON (UPI) — A bomb presumed to be the work of the Irish Republican Army exploded in the Houses of Parliament today, causing injury and damaging 900-year-old Westminster Hall, one of Britain's most hallowed and historic buildings.

Police said 11 persons were injured, including one woman whose leg was broken. Only the woman was kept in the hospital. The others were treated for minor cuts and bruises or smoke inhalation and released.

The bomb ripped through the House of Commons kitchens, close to the parliamentary chapel and near Westminster Hall, where King Henry VIII used to play tennis but which has been used since its completion in 1099 for major state occasions, from the trial of King Charles II to the lying-in-state of Sir Winston Churchill.

Scotland Yard said the satchel bomb, reported to weigh 15-20 pounds, fractured a natural gas pipe setting off the blaze. Three hours later firemen tore lead from the roof of the hall to try to get hoses in to battle the remaining flames.

Authorities summoned the largest amount of firefighting equipment I have seen here since the House of Commons was bombed in World War II.

Government officials said today's scheduled meeting of Parliament would start as scheduled.

Today's attack, reminiscent of Guy Fawkes' abortive gunpowder plot to blow up Parliament in 1605, was the most serious incident there since April 11, 1812, when Prime Minister Spencer Perceval was shot to death.

But Member of Parliament David Steel said more than 100 firemen saved the ancient hall and its magnificent hammer beam ceiling, whose 600-year-old timbers have been called "a miracle of Gothic carpentry."

Steel, the Liberal party chief whip, was inside when the bomb exploded minutes after 8:30 a.m. (3:30 a.m. EDT), while preparations for the day's parliamentary meals were in full swing in the kitchens.

Scotland Yard bomb squad experts, fire equipment and police forces were converging on the historic Palace of Westminster when the bomb went off. They were alerted by a warning telephoned six minutes earlier to the Press Association, a British news agency.

The man, speaking with an Irish accent, used a code word recognized by Scotland Yard as a demonstration that his warning was genuine. This pattern had been followed in most of 63 earlier bomb attacks and other British cities, most blamed on the IRA.

Reported French A-Test Protested

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Australia and New Zealand strongly protested today a French nuclear explosion above the Mururoa Atoll in the Pacific.

In Tokyo, a Foreign Ministry source said Japan also would lodge a stiff protest once it had definite information the blast took place.

In a press conference in Wellington, New Zealand Prime Minister Norman Kirk said the French bomb detonated early today was a "sizeable explosion" of under 20 times the force of TNT, but he declined to be specific when asked where his information came from.

"We get it on the basis of our own initiative, and it's very necessary that we should," he said.

Nixon Praises Former Leader

JERUSALEM (UPI) — President Nixon praised former Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir yesterday as one of the finest world leaders he had ever met.

"No leader I have met, no president, no king, no prime minister or any other leader has demonstrated ... greater courage, greater intelligence, greater stamina, greater determination and greater dedication to her country," Nixon said at a dinner in his honor.

Mrs. Meir responded: "... All I can say, Mr. President, as friends and as an Israeli citizen to a great American President is, thank you."

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Brezhnev Is Optimistic

MOSCOW (UPI) — Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Soviet Communist party leader, expects to reach "good agreements" with President Nixon and is annoyed with American critics of their summit meeting later this month in Moscow.

Brezhnev yesterday for the second time in three days publicly chastised those in the United States who have expressed pessimism about the Nixon visit beginning June 27.

Brezhnev, said "I'm optimistic and expect new, good agreements with Mr. Nixon in spite of the pessimism shown by certain circles, or to be more precise, certain persons in the United States."

Peace Talk Plans

BELFAST (UPI) — Leaders of hardline Protestant groups today began a three-day conference to discuss proposals by a paramilitary group for a ceasefire and peace talks with the Irish Republican Army, militant Protestant sources said.

The death toll from nearly five years of violence in Northern Ireland continued to rise. A Roman Catholic woman shot in the head during a weekend robbery died in a Belfast hospital today, police said.

Geraldine Corrigan, 34, was the 1,036th victim of the violence among the majority Protestant community, minority Catholics and security forces.

the Gaullist policy of "independence."

French Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues said over the weekend on the state-run television and radio network that "in the wording of the new Atlantic charter, there does not appear any formula of consultation which implies an obligation or which restrains in any way the liberty of action of France or its partners."

Elysee presidential palace officials said the new government led by President Valery Giscard d'Estaing at the same time wished to do away with "useless aggression" and return to more diplomatic manners.

Neo-Fascists Killed

ROME (UPI) — Two members of the neo-Fascist Italian Social Movement (MSI) were found shot to death in the local headquarters in Padua today in another manifestation of violence that has swept an Italy caught up in economic and political chaos.

MSI Secretary Giorgio Almirante said the killings proved that "Italy is living in a situation of civil war" and said the government is incapable of handling the situation.

Portugal Strike

LISBON (UPI) — Portugal's 25,000 post office workers walked off their jobs nationwide today, demanding higher pay despite a government warning to take firm action to maintain normal services.

The strike did not affect automatic telephone and telex traffic, and a post office union spokesman said employees would handle emergency calls to doctors, hospitals, police and fire stations.

More To Prison

SANTIAGO (UPI) — Chilean military courts still are busy sending both soldiers and civilians to prison for choosing the wrong side in the revolt that toppled leftist President Salvador Allende nine months ago.

To date, at least 225 persons have gone before military judges in trials across Chile. Most of the courts-martial are held in secret.

Verdict In Week

KHARTOUM, Sudan (UPI) — A high court trying eight Black September Palestinian guerrillas for the murders of two U.S. diplomats and a Belgian attaché says it will announce its verdict a week from today.

The three-man Superior Court, the first in any Arab land to try Palestinian guerrillas, heard final prosecution and defense pleas over the weekend. The guerrillas face a possible death penalty if convicted.

Reds Hold Road

SAIGON (UPI) — Viet Cong troops holding a six-mile section of key Highway 1 east of Saigon fought off a new government attempt to reopen the road, military sources said today.

South Vietnamese reinforcements in the one-week-old battle moved up to the roadblock 50 miles east of Saigon yesterday, but were unable to punch through Communist troops.

Pat Boone Loses Bout Over Taxes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Singer Pat Boone must pay more than $52,000 in back income taxes because a judge ruled he cannot write off losses in a land development deal on his 1965 and 1966 tax returns.

The U.S. Tax Court, in a memorandum filed Wednesday, rejected Boone's argument that the surrender of $92,500 in debenture bonds was a "business expense" necessary "to protect his business reputation as an entertainer and an endorser of commercial products."

Boone had put the money into a sagging real estate development company in which he held 19 per cent of the stock. The deductions were taken in 1965 and 1966, when Boone reported taxable income of $100,158 and $119,901.

Kissinger Holds To Threat To Resign

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today said he intends to stick by his threat to resign unless his name is cleared of wiretapping charges.

Kissinger said in Austria last week he was considering quitting over allegations that he ordered wiretapping of 17 persons in 1969-71, saying he could not continue running U.S. foreign policy role if subjected to "leaks and innuendoes" about his role in tracking down national security leaks.

New Polls Give Nixon Support

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two independent pollsters have come up with different results on public opinion toward President Nixon, but the results of both polls are unfavorable to the President.

Two Gallup polls, one taken in early May and the other taken in early June, indicated Nixon made slight gains in public support during the time period between the two polls. But Harris surveys for the same periods said Nixon has lost support.

In both polls, those who said Nixon should be removed from office outnumbered those who said he should remain.

The Gallup poll taken in early June and released during the weekend said 44 per cent of those questioned felt Nixon should be removed from office, compared with 41 per cent who were against removal. When the same question was posed by Gallup in early May, 48 per cent wanted Nixon removed to 37 who did not, indicating Nixon gained about 4 per cent during the two polls.

The Harris poll taken in early June and released last week showed 52 per cent favored removal, compared with 35 per cent who said Nixon should remain in office. The Harris figures for the same poll taken in early May were 49 for removal to 41 against removal, indicating a loss of support of about 4 per cent during the time period between the two polls.

"IRREGULARITY" NEEDN'T BE A PROBLEM

Summer is travel time, which means changes in normal habits and "irregularity" for many of us. But not necessarily, if a bottle of herb granules from Germany, called LOSAPAN, is tucked into suitcases.

Label laws require that it be identified as a laxative. But customers say it regulates digestion and encourages normal, healthy bowel activity, with no laxative effect. We don't know of another product which brings so many rave notices - even from people who stay home, yet still need a little help. LOSAPAN is unique. We have descriptive folders available if you're interested.

Little Balloon Serves Patient As A Sort Of Second Heart

KINGSTON, R.I. (UPI) — For some heart attack patients suffering from serious vascular damage, a little plastic balloon-like device may be a life saver.

The device, about three-quarters of an inch in diameter and six inches long, was developed five years ago, but its use has not been widespread because of certain problems.

Dr. Dov Jaron, a bio-medical engineer at the University of Rhode Island, is working to solve them.

"The device has already been tried clinically, but the results have not been as good as people had hoped," Jaron said. "What I'm doing is trying to maximize its benefits."

The balloon, which Jaron referred to as "sort of a second heart," expands and contracts with the natural rhythm of the heart. While the heart is resting, it rushes blood into the heart muscle, and while the heart is active, the balloon is deflated.

The trick is tuning the expansion and deflation of the balloon with the expansion and deflation of the heart.

"It has to be timed correctly with the heart, and as it turns out, this is a fairly critical element in its operation," Jaron said.

Jaron said the device has been effective in relieving the pain experienced by patients with a form of heart disease called angina. With angina, decreased cardiac circulation produces acute chest pains.

"We treated some patients with angina. After a few days, we removed the balloon, and they remained pain free for several months," he said.

For muscular damage, the balloon reduces the workload on the damaged heart muscle by helping with the circulation of the blood.

Jaron, who recently came to URI from Sinai Hospital in Detroit, said, "at Sinai, we tried the device on several patients who had usually fatal damage from heart attack. The assist in some cases gave the damaged heart an opportunity to repair itself. In other cases, the damage was too extensive. But all the patients would have died without the balloon."

The oblong balloon is inserted in the body through a small incision in an artery in the upper left leg and threaded through arteries until it lies in the descending aorta, which is the great artery that takes blood directly from the heart and sends it to the rest of the body.

It is only a temporary device.

and while in the body, the patients must remain in bed hooked up to an electronic controller. To more accurately atune the balloon to the continuous beating of the heart, Jaron said he was attempting to use a computer instead of relying on the judgment of a technician who operates the controller.

Panel's Chief Hints At Impeachment Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Judiciary Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr. says he is seeking to have the chambers of the full House equipped with earphones so the members will be able to listen to presidential tapes during an impeachment debate.

Rodino's comment to reporters amounted to an offhand acknowledgement that he anticipated his committee would recommend the impeachment of President Nixon —otherwise there would be no need for the earphones.

There was no qualifying phrase, such as "if the committee recommends impeachment," when he discussed plans for floor consideration.

This week the committee completes closed-door examination of the evidence, with tomorrow and Wednesday devoted to an examination of whether the firing of Archibald Cox as special Watergate prosecutor amounted to obstruction of justice and Thursday spent looking into whether fraud was involved in Nixon's underpayment of his income taxes during his first term.

Following that, the committee will consider whether the secret bombing of Cambodia can be considered impeachable; subpoena additional tapes it seeks on the ITT and milk contributions, and take testimony, perhaps privately, from a limited number of witnesses.

Rodino, D-N.J., wants to wind up hearings by July 22, with two or three weeks of House debate beginning during the first week of August.

A spokesman for House Speaker Carl Albert said Rodino has discussed his plan to install 435 stereophonic earphones for each member along the benches where congressmen sit. He said Albert had made no decision, but the speaker would not need to ask the House itself to authorize such a step.

Under Rodino's plan, only House members —no one from the press or public —would be permitted to hear the actual tape recordings of Nixon's conversations with his aides.

He said the tapes would not be played publicly during the impeachment debate because they contain "irrelevant" material. He did not mention specifically the dirty language or unflattering characterizations of persons said to be on the tapes.

Rodino said all other materials used as evidence to support the charges against Nixon in a bill of impeachment would be published and made public. Other confidential materials not needed to support a charge of impeachable conduct would be kept secret.

KEEP YOUR COOL AND CONSERVE ENERGY, TOO.

Follow these summer tips for greater comfort and wise use of energy.

1. Use heat-producing appliances sparingly. Turn off lamps, television and stereos when they're not in use.

2. Keep drapes closed on hot days. Light-colored drapes and curtains reflect heat and sunlight outward. For even better heat reflection attach a light-colored shade outside your house over large window areas.

3. Just as good insulation and weatherstripping help keep your house warm in winter, they help keep it cool in summer. Make sure your insulation is adequate.

4. On hot days proper attic ventilation can reduce attic temperatures as much as 50 degrees, so your air conditioner won't have to work so hard. You'll save energy and money.

5. Before you go on vacation, turn your gas water heater to "pilot." That way you won't waste energy heating water when you're not there to use it. When you return, just re-set the control to "on" to start water heating again.

Armed Men Fail To Rob Hotel

A night clerk at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito underwent a harrowing ordeal this morning at the hands of two armed men who failed in their attempt to rob the hotel safe.

The clerk, 43-year-old David Rowland of Sausalito, had gone off duty at 2 a.m. and was walking to his car when he was halted at Harrison and Santa Rosa avenues by two black men brandishing a pistol and sawed-off shotgun, police said.

Both wore dark clothing and one's face was obscured by a stocking mask.

After the bandits took his eye glasses, keys and wallet containing $60, Rowland was pulled into the bushes, tied up and asked for the combination to the hotel safe.

He was slugged over the head with the pistol when he said he didn't know the combination, police reported.

Rowland said he was untied and led inside the hotel, at 126 Harrison Avenue, where the gunmen searched in vain for the hotel manager with the combination to the safe.

Frustrated, the would-be safe robbers took the clerk back outside and forced him down a stairway at 100 Harrison Avenue, where he was bound again and told not to move for 20 minutes, according to police.

The two men apparently fled on foot. Rowland managed to work himself free and summoned police. The clerk suffered minor injuries from the blow to the head but was not hospitalized, investigators said.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

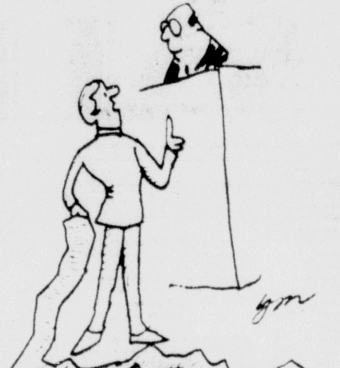

Class Actions By Consumers

In a recent decision, the United States Supreme Court limited the use of "class actions" in the federal courts, where the suit is between citizens of different states. Each member of the class must have a claim over $10,000 in order to join in the Federal suit.

The federal decision does not affect "class actions" in the California courts. California has been one of the most progressive states in allowing class actions. It permits numerous parties with a common interest to present their claims in a single suit. There must be common questions of law of fact, and the representative(s) of the class must fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class.

In 1971, California enacted the Consumers Legal Remedies Act, which was revised in 1973 to give greater protection. The Act permits a consumer who suffers any damage to bring a class action on behalf of himself and other consumers similarly situated. It is aimed at unfair and deceptive business practices and at defective goods and services.

The Act grants remedies in addition to any other the consumer might have. It attempts to balance the interests of the consumer with the interests of the merchant. For example, a consumer may prefer to initiate a normal "class action," rather than use the remedies provided by the Act; on the other hand, the merchant may prefer the conciliatory provisions of the Consumers Act.

The purpose of the Consumers Act is to bring about a settlement of disputes. Before a class action may be brought to recover damages for defective goods or services, the merchant has to be given an opportunity to correct, repair, replace or otherwise improve the goods or services within 30 days. The injured consumer must help the merchant to identify all other consumers similarly situated. The merchant may make a showing of good faith and unintentional error, which is a defense to a claim for damages.

In short, the Consumer Act spells out a specific method by which a group of consumers may join together to have their differences with a merchant aired in court. The court is spared the burden of repetitious litigation.

Assault Report By Hitchhiker

A 23-year-old San Francisco woman was raped and forced to perform other sexual acts yesterday by a man who gave her a ride from San Francisco to Marin.

Larkspur police said the woman was hitchhiking to San Anselmo and was picked up by a white man, about 40 years old, 6 feet tall, 150 pounds with blond hair and blue eyes. He was driving a blue Ford pickup truck with the white camper shell.

Officers said the woman told them the man stopped the truck on Lucky Drive, but grabbed her as she attempted to get out and threatened her with a knife.

He then drove to the Larkspur ferry terminal site where he attacked her, police said.

Joyce Moran To Water Board

Joyce M. Moran, a retired social worker who owns a ranch in Fresno County, has been named to replace John L. Jones on the board of directors of the Stinson Beach County Water District, board president Proctor Jones announced today.

Miss Moran, a resident of Stinson Beach since 1957, was selected for the post at a board session Saturday. Her appointment must be confirmed by the county board of supervisors.

Jones, a former board president, has announced he will leave his director's position July 1.

Two Gatherings Of Astronomers

Star Observers of Marin will hold an observing session Friday after sunset at 375 Fawn Drive, Sleepy Hollow.

Telescopes will be available for all.

At its June 27 meeting at 8 p.m. in the San Anselmo office of Ross Valley Savings and Loan Association, the group will discuss the topic, "Is the Earth Still Flat?"

Both the meeting and observing session are open to the public.

NIXON

tary leaders lined up on the tarmac before the red-carpeted podium, the Queen took Mrs. Nixon to the airport VIP lounge where refreshments were served in the traditional Arab gesture of welcome.

Then the party left by motorcade for the three-mile drive to the Al Hummar Palace where the Nixons will stay during their 21-hour visit. The palace, built of white stone, stands atop a high hill and overlooks the River Jordan valley which has formed Jordan's border with Israel since the 1967 war.

On the other side of the river is the west bank territory which Hussein hopes to win back — along with the Arabic sector of Jerusalem — at the Geneva peace conference scheduled to reconvene in October.

While only a few hundred persons, mostly official guests, watched the airport arrival, crowds estimated by police at hundreds of thousands lined Amman streets to watch as a motorcade carrying Nixon and the king went by on the way to the king's Houmar Palace.

They rode in a closed grey Lincoln limousine — one of Hussein's bullet-proof fleet of cars.

Soldiers stood guard on rooftops but apartment balconies and sidewalks were jammed with cheering citizens. An estimated 10,000 police and soldiers were turned out to guard against any trouble in this nation of 2.3 million, of which about half are Palestinians.

Nixon waved at the crowds but he appeared tired, his face drawn, after a week of exhilarating but exhausting travel.

Nixon's visit marked the first time an American President had been to Jordan, a nation of 2.3 million, about half of whom are Palestinians.

Earlier today, Nixon and Rabin climaxed the President's visit to Israel by announcing a new program of American aid to Israel in nuclear and space technology and long-term supplies of weapons.

A joint communique issued shortly after the final two-hour round of talks was similar in tone to the agreement announced in Egypt, particularly as it referred to nuclear energy.

It said the United States has agreed to "offset the heavy additional costs inherent in assuring Israel's military capability for the maintenance of peace."

Before the final talks began, the Nixons visited the Yad Vashem memorial to the 6 million Jewish dead of World War II, a protocol stop more than a sightseeing tour. The President donned a black kippah in deference to the Jewish custom of wearing a hat in holy places.

He reignited the eternal flame in the cool, dark, low-ceiling hall dedicated to the heroes and martyrs of the Nazi concentration camps. A choir sang Ani Ma'amin (I Believe), and Nixon promptly invited it to perform at the White House.

From there he went to the Knesset (parliament) for his final round of talks with Mrs. Nixon toured the nearby kibbutz of Kiryat Anavim.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, and a number of Israeli officials, attended the talks which preceded release of the communique.

Throughout the stay in Israel, Nixon's message had been one of continued support despite newly improved relations with the Arab states, and of persuading Israel to take risks in pursuit of peace.

Israel's leadership appeared to be willing to do so, but it was not known whether their willingness would extend to relinquishing all or some of the land won in the six-day June war of 1967. Both publicly and privately, the Arab leaders have expressed their expectation of a return of the disputed lands.

Theft Ring Gets Costly Plants

MIAMI (UPI) — Expensive exotic plants have been disappearing from yards in the Miami area recently and police speculate the thefts may be the work of organized bandits.

"Somebody knows what he's doing," said a Coral Gables police spokesman.

Some of the plants, largely ornamental, cost as much as $200.

Hostile Signs Greet Visitor In Israel

JERUSALEM (UPI) — For the first time on his Mideast trip, some hostile signs greeted President Nixon on his arrival in Israel yesterday.

The greeting was generally warm but among the signs was one referring to the Watergate scandal at home reading: "You can't run from justice." Another referring to allegations of ethnic slurs in a White House tape said: "We are all Jews."

Sergeant Hurt During Arrest Try

A Novato police sergeant was hurt early today when he was kicked in the stomach while arresting a man on suspicion of drunken driving, Novato police reported.

The driver, Billie Landers Robinson, 42, of 40 Pebble Beach Drive, Novato, was booked into Marin County Jail for investigation of driving while intoxicated and assault with a deadly weapon.

Police said Sgt. Raymond Hill halted Robinson's car in the 400 block of Alameda Del Prado at 12:50 a.m. but Robinson resisted both Hill and Officer R.M. Ginnodo.

While Hill was attempting to place Robinson in the rear seat of the patrol car, Robinson kicked the officer in the mid-section with high heeled boots, knocking him onto the pavement, police said.

Hill was reported in satisfactory condition at Novato General Hospital where he was being held under observation for possible rib fractures or spleen rupture.

No bail had yet been set for Robinson who was scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

San Jose State Degrees Given To 20 Marinites

Twenty Marin students were among the 3,000 graduates to receive degrees in commencement exercises last week at San Jose State University.

Marin graduates were: Mill Valley — Philip Fahy and Robert Praun.

Novato — James Horan, Joan Baldwin, Peter Simonato, Michael Sullivan and Donald Zile.

SAN ANSELMO — Laurel Filakowski, Raymond Gue, Judith Katuan and Paulo Stadnik.

Marin City — James Smith. San Rafael — Richard Bottarini, Gretchen Park, Fred Cannon, Kathleen Carew, Patricia Dahl, Dwight Hulbert, Robert Klyce and Cary Taylor.

Motorcyclist's Condition Poor

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Leonard C. Nelson, 24, of 1821 Lakeville Highway, Petaluma, was listed in poor condition today at Memorial Hospital with head injuries received in an accident in Petaluma Thursday.

Petaluma police said Nelson's motorcycle was struck by a car driven by Willis A. McJunkin, 79, of Vallejo. The accident occurred at the intersection of Lakeville Highway and Baywood Drive.

Officers said McJunkin's car apparently entered the intersection against a red light, colliding with Nelson's Yamaha as it was turning. Both vehicles received major damage and McJunkin was cited for the red light violation.

Protest Thins Carrier's Ranks

TOKYO (UPI) — The American aircraft carrier Midway is at sea without 52 crewmen who failed to show up when the ship left Yokosuka last Friday, the Navy said today.

Japanese news reports said the men refused to return to the ship to protest alleged racial discrimination and long working hours.

A U.S. Navy spokesman at Yokosuka southwest of Tokyo said 52 crewmen were unaccounted for when the Midway left last Friday, but nine of them have since returned to the base.

Water District Budget On List

North Marin County Water District directors will review a proposed $1.5 million budget for 1974-75 at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the district office, 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato.

The budget is down $218,742 from the current one, and the proposed tax rate is 8 cents per $100 assessed valuation, down 1 cent.

Directors also will hear a report from Dist. Mgr. John O. Nelson on the amount of water that will be available until the Russian River Intertie is completed in 1977.

Span's Victim

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A woman who jumped to her death from the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge Friday was identified by police today as Page Anderson, 33, Orinda.

Must Clean Air Hurt Economy?

By DAVID WINDER
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Can big industry in a city like New York find happiness in stricter air pollution controls and still maintain a healthy economy?

That is the tough question posed by a controversial New York City transportation plan that would sharply curtail traffic flow in the interests of cleaner air.

The plan could put New York City ahead of other major cities in the country in strategies to meet prescribed federal clean air standards by Dec. 31, 1976.

New York's distinction in being in the forefront on federal demands for stricter air quality controls is not without complications, however.

Neighboring New Jersey, the nation's most densely industrialized state, is not playing ball with the demands from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for a similar plan of action.

Says James A. Fenniman of the New York Chamber of Commerce and Industry: "One of the biggest problems we are having with our membership is the people who say, 'Why should I, Mr. Businessman, have those controls when I could pick up my business and cross the river into New Jersey?'"

New York City in concert with New York State submitted its plan in April, 1973, and it was approved in mid-June.

If implemented it would have a dramatic effect on traffic movement. It calls for cutting traffic congestion, discouraging the use of private cars in central business districts, banning midtown taxi cruising, tolls on all Hudson and East River tunnels and bridges, and pollution-control devices on all trucks and cars.

Says Freeman, who is chairman of the air-quality subcommittee of the environmental committee of New York Chamber of Commerce and Industry,

Lions' Exemption Plea On List

The Mill Valley City Council, meeting at 8:30 p.m. today, will consider a request from the Lions Club of Mill Valley to be exempted from a new city policy which prevents groups which discriminate on the basis of sex from using city facilities.

The club, for men only, wants to go on using the Mill Valley Golf Clubhouse for its monthly meetings, according to City Clerk Patricia L. Ostler.

Before going through the regular agenda, the council will hold an hour-long closed meeting, beginning at 7:30 p.m. to discuss employee salary negotiations.

Spending Plan Before Board

Tamalpais High School District trustees will adopt a tentative budget for 1974-75 today at 8:30 p.m. in the Redwood High School faculty lounge.

The proposed $11,814,889 spending plan is $84,147 more than this year's. It includes $300,000 for a 4 per cent cost-of-living raise for district teachers.

Trustees will also hear a report from Supt. Robert D. Torrey on a plan to form a committee to study district salaries. Trustees promised to explore such a committee when they gave teachers — who were asking 15 per cent raises — the 4 per cent pay hike.

mail Fahmi said yesterday his country would not manufacture or acquire atomic weapons unless Israel did.

Kissinger said he understood the Israeli concern. "Needless to say," he told reporters, "that for a country that has lived as precariously as Israel, anything with even a vague potential for increasing the military dangers is a source of great concern."

But, Kissinger continued, "I believe those (Israeli) officials realize there is no danger of a military diversion — that they have been reassured."

OBITUARIES

Alphonse J. Chamberland Rite Wednesday

A mass of Christian Burial for Alphonse Joseph Chamberland of San Rafael will be Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. at St. Raphael's Church.

Chamberland, 67, died in a local convalescent home Saturday following a long illness.

A native of Rhode Island, Chamberland came to Marin after World War II and settled in San Rafael. He served in the Air Force for 20 years and saw action during World War II and Korea and participated in the Berlin air lift in 1948.

Chamberland also was active in the Moose Lodge of San Rafael.

He is survived by his wife Ruby Chamberland, three daughters, Ruby Watson of Seguin, Tex., Nita Wilson of Novato and Dorothy Trotter of Terra Linda; a sister, Alice Ethier of New Mexico and a brother, Albert Chamberland of Rhode Island.

Rosary will be recited tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Interment will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery.

GRETEL EPSTEIN

Gretel Epstein, a 34 year San Rafael resident, died yesterday at her home after a long illness.

Mrs. Epstein, 90, resided at 139 Center Street.

A native of Mainz, Germany, she and her husband, Julius, fled Germany in the 1930s because of the Nazis, going first to The Netherlands and then to the United States.

Epstein, a banker, died in 1952.

Survivors include a daughter, Lotti Schuck of San Francisco; a brother, Hans Fehr of Yonkers, N.Y., and a granddaughter.

No service is planned. The family has asked that memorial gifts be made to the Lighthouse for the Blind or to the donor's favorite charity.

ROBERT BOWEN

Robert Francis Bowen of San Rafael, a supervisor with the Pacific Telephone Company in Marin, died last night following a heart attack at his home. He was 44.

A native of El Paso, Tex., Bowen had lived in Marin 35 years residing at 1198 Las Rappas Road. He was a member of the Free and Accepted Masons and the Marin Rod and Gun Club.

He is survived by his wife of 24 years, Audrey Jane Bowen and a son, Richard James Bowen, both of the home; his par-

Sentenced On Another Count

A Fairfax man awaiting sentencing on a hit-run conviction was sentenced Thursday on another felony — assaulting an officer in the Marin County Jail.

Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best gave Woodrow Wilson Fitzsimmons, 30, a 10-day jail sentence but suspended it except for two days already served, and put him on probation for hitting a jail deputy Feb. 23.

Fitzsimmons was convicted by a jury May 24 of the hit-run death of bicyclist Harmen Evers, 40, on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in San Anselmo last Nov. 23. He is to be sentenced on that charge on Friday.

Vest Prevents Officer Killing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A man who surrendered to police on the weekend has been charged with the attempted murder of a San Francisco policeman.

Motorcycle officer Robert Hooper of Novato was shot point-blank in the chest Friday by the driver of a car who had run a stop light. Hooper was saved from death by a bullet-proof vest.

A manhunt ended Saturday when Ivory J. Briggs, 38, an ex-convict, turned himself in.

Inspectors who questioned Briggs said he did not admit to the shooting. A preliminary hearing was scheduled for today.

ents, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Guthrie of Santa Catalina Island; and a sister, Jane Budd, also of Santa Catalina.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

TRYVGE ELWICK

Private funeral and interment for Tryvge Elwick of Novato were to be held today at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

Elwick died Friday evening in a local hospital after a brief illness. He was 51.

A construction worker, Elwick lived at 106 Leibert Lane. His survivors include his wife, Ann.

EVA GINSBURG

Private funeral was held today at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery for Eva Ginsburg of Kentfield, who died Saturday morning in a local hospital after a brief illness. She was 89.

Mrs. Ginsburg was born in Russia, but came to the United States as a small child. She lived 45 years in Hollywood before moving to Marin last November to live with her daughter at 71 Berens Drive.

She is survived by her daughter, Frances Compton; a brother, Herbert Harvey of Palos Verdes Estates, Los Angeles County, and two grandsons.

SET YOUR THERMOSTAT HIGH TO LOWER YOUR AIR CONDITIONING COSTS.

Makes good, logical sense once you stop and think about it, to outdoor units that the air flow doesn't? Then here are more ways you can get more comfort for your money through better air conditioning efficiency.

Clean and inspect filter screens regularly to reduce power consumption and eliminate dust and pollen.

Protect outdoor cooling systems from the sun. Place them on the north, or shady, side of the house. Shrubbery should not be placed so close to outdoor units that the air flow will be restricted. Proper attic ventilation makes work easier for your cooling system. It releases stagnant heat.

Shade your house — especially roof and windows — with trees and large plants. You'll ease your cooling system's workload.

Close central heating vents when using window air conditioners. Keep cool air in your living areas, not in the ductwork.

Gunman's Ruse Almost Works

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Police spent two hours trying to flush an erratic gunman from a house after they realized the alleged assailant was standing inside.

The suspect, Charles Daly, had somehow sneaked from the house Saturday night, joining police lines and urging the person inside to surrender, police said. During a two-hour siege, police fired 10 tear gas canisters into the building — while Daly stood beside them.

Police said Daly told officers his brother, Carl, was inside, a ruse that worked until the brother returned from a party and asked what the commotion was all about.

Daly was undergoing psychiatric treatment today.

Kissinger Defended By Archibald Cox

STANFORD (UPI) — Archibald Cox, fired Watergate special prosecutor, yesterday strongly criticized unsubstantiated news leaks on Watergate and wiretap charges against Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Cox, who delivered the main address at Stanford University's 83rd commencement exercises, defended Kissinger and likened the charges against him with the heyday of McCarthyism.

Referring to wiretap allegations which last week caused Kissinger to threaten to resign, Cox said:

"In the heyday of Joseph McCarthy, the intellectual world, including the press, was properly outspoken about the danger of unfair accusations, about the importance of planting of stories in the press without adequate opportunity for denial and about the lack of true adversarial proceedings."

He cited newspaper accounts last Wednesday of an interview with a member of the House Judiciary Committee in which the member said there was "proof positive" that Kissinger ordered wiretaps on the staff of the National Security Council.

"But when asked to reveal the proof, he replied that to give out the proof would be improper," Cox said.

The similar incidents have been too numerous to explain by careless slips alone. Still we read no editorial condemning ex parte accusation 'leads' to the press and judgments without true adversarial proceedings," Cox said.

"Are they now any less afraid than they were 20 years ago? Procedural fairness does not depend upon whose ox was gored."

Mental Defense In Hearst Case

NEW YORK (UPI) — If Patricia Hearst, kidnap victim-turned-revolutionary, ever gives herself up or is captured, she will face at least 20 state and federal charges, Newsweek magazine reported in its latest edition that a defense strategy based on the assumption she was brainwashed is already being mapped out.

The newsmagazine said Dr. Frederick Hacker of Los Angeles, the psychiatrist who has advised the Hearst family since Miss Hearst was abducted Feb. 4, is fashioning the basic defense plan.

Newsweek quoted Hacker, a specialist in the study of terror, as saying, "The only defense Patty has is a psychiatric one."

Centenarian Touts His Enjoyments

TYNEMOUTH, England (UPI) — Charlie May says he smoked his first cigar at the time of the Spanish-American war. That was in 1898 and he was 23. He rolled his first lawn bowling ball when he was 63. Now he is a month short of 100 and is still doing better.

Bowling and rum and cigars — they do me a power of good," he said.

Familiar Pattern In County Budget Hearings

The Marin County Board of Supervisors is in the midst of public hearings on a $52 million county budget for next fiscal year, and so far the pattern has been depressingly familiar.

When the hearings opened, spending proponents and hold-the-line proponents both had their representatives on hand. Niels J. Schultz Jr., speaking for the Marin Property Owners Association, urged the board to hold the line on spending. Rex T. Silvernale, who heads a new and as-yet unnamed taxpayer group organized under the aegis of Supervisor Robert A. Roomiguiera, advocated keeping down county salaries and the number of employees.

Neither offered much of anything in the way of specifics. But the Marin County Council of Social Agencies had its representatives on hand to urge something very specific. They wanted 1.5 per cent of the budget to be set aside for organizations which belong to the council.

Independent Journal

The supervisors did not buy that immediately. But two days later they budgeted $500,000 for distribution to the agencies.

The contrast in approach by those who want more money spent and those who want to hold down spending was typical. The first came up with a specific proposal; the second, with generalities.

THE PATTERN continued the next day, when the supervisors approved an increase of $262,604 — almost 85 per cent — in the data processing budget. This includes $185,000 to hire a consultant to tell the county what's wrong with its cost accounting program.

No one was there to ask why the county, with its huge staff of accountants, has to go outside to hire a consultant. No one was there to question the $185,000 price tag on the consultant study. (We may assume it is inflated in at least the same ratio as the $80,000 paid recently for an economic impact study of the county general plan.) No one was there to present or demand figures to show whether the data processing operation saves the county money or actually increases its costs, nor to present or demand data on the improved efficiency — or lack of it — produced by spending $311,930 this fiscal year on data processing — to say nothing of $575,967 next year.

IT WAS the old, familiar pattern. Those who want to spend more of our money have specific requests. Those who want to save us from taxation into bankruptcy fail to offer specific ways to do it.

Jeffery S. Morshead, a Greenbrae realty man, wrote a letter to the editor pleading that someone come forward to head a real taxpayer offensive against further inflation of government spending. It is unlikely that anyone will. We have several taxpayer organizations in the field now, but they fail to prepare themselves so they can present programs demanding notice and discussion.

Those of us who see the peril in government spending habits don't seem to care enough to do anything about it, except complain. Such being the case, further inflation is inevitable.

"Frustration is achieving one's lifetime income goal and going broke all in the same year."

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Foreign Leaders Don't Regard Nixon As Weakened President

HOW FOREIGN LEADERS VIEW NIXON: They do not consider him seriously weakened by Watergate in the conduct of foreign policy. There is no standoff attitude.

There is wide appreciation for the competence and negotiating skill of Sec. of State Henry Kissinger. But the heads of government nearly everywhere want to see the president, talk with him at first hand, and deal with him on crucial issues.

When the confer with Mr. Nixon, foreign leaders do not see themselves as dealing with a weakened president but with a strong United States.

ARE GOVERNORS COMING BACK? Time was when most presidential candidates were drawn from the ranks of the governors. Recently they have come mostly from the Senate.

But with federal politicians, executive and legislative, in low esteem, at least 12 governors — seven Democrats and five Republicans — see themselves as possibly on 1976 national tickets.

Among the Democrats are George Wallace of Alabama, Reubin Askew of Florida, Jimmy Carter of Georgia, Daniel Walker of Illinois, Wendell Anderson of Minnesota, John Gilligan of Ohio, and Dale Bumpers — soon to be a senator — of Arkansas.

The Republicans include William Milliken of Michigan, Daniel Evans of Washington, Tom McCall of Oregon, Ronald Reagan of California — soon to be unemployed — and Nelson Rockefeller of New York, already unemployed.

U.S. AIRPLANE HIJACKINGS AT ALL-TIME LOW. Here is the record, provided by the FBI, of actual and attempted and successful hijackings of U.S.-registered aircraft from 1969 to date:

1969, attempted 39, successful 33; 1970, attempted 26 and 19; 1971, 27 and 11; 1972, 35 and 10; 1973, 3 and 1; 1974, 2 and 0.

WHERE REPUBLICANS HURT. The political fallout from Watergate damages GOP congressional prospects at two points:

—There is a shortage of good candidates.

—There is a shortage of grass-roots manpower to help candidates willing to run.

At every level of elective politics, Republican Party leaders complain that "strong, attractive, viable" candidates are not coming forward.

MOSCOW'S NEW WAR OF WORDS is against Red China and its goal is to go beyond words. The Soviet Union is again trying to mobilize the Communists of the world to expel the Chinese from the "brotherhood" of Communist parties.

Its first step is to brand Communist China as "anti-socialist," and this is the worst epithet in the Soviet dictionary.

Its second step is to make another attempt — it tried five years ago and failed — to put together a summit meeting of all Communist parties and to induce it to read China out of the family of loyal Marxists.

Last time 38 of the 111 Communist parties refused to attend, five declined to sign the proclamation Moscow was demanding, and nine others put in reservations.

It does not look as though the Kremlin will be any more successful this time.

QUOTE OF THE WEEK: From Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., chairman of the Senate Watergate committee: "A great deal of the abuse of leadership in the White House is due to the dereliction of Congress."

1974, Los Angeles Times.

ERNEST B. FURGURSON

Tax Subsidy Flaws Public TV Through Intrusion Of Politics

WASHINGTON — In a given time slot, a public television program featuring Charles Evers on developments in civil rights in the past decade would seem undeniably superior to another chapter of "Hawaii Five-O" on a nearby commercial channel.

Ergo, perhaps, public television is superior to commercial, and, ergo again, the federal government should subsidize public TV with public money.

Such ergoism is too simple, however, to cover the renewed controversy over public TV financing.

Some of the things the paid networks do are infinitely better than some of the soporific panels the nonpaid stations convene. Or pit CBS' "60 Minutes," for example, against a prime-time noncommercial half-hour of aviation weather.

BUT WE CAN CLING to a generality that most of what public television attempts is worthwhile, and some of it is superbly successful. So despite the fact that locally it persists in running "Sesame Street" three times a day, its survival is a desirable public goal.

However, that fails to prove that the way to keep public TV going is to fund it with taxpayers' money. Taxpayers' money is controlled by politicians; when politicians dispense money, they habitually attach politics to it, and politics has no proper role in managing television.

While it has no proper role, it nevertheless is there, in deep, precisely because taxpayers' money is already involved, and more of it is sought.

THREE YEARS AGO, Mr. Nixon brought in a young man to handle the technical side of the antimedia campaign for which Spiro Agnew was the outside salesman. He was Clay T. Whitehead, and he quickly enunciated the White House belief that the public TV network was encumbered by liberal bias, and that more control from local stat on managers was needed to correct this.

As it evolved, White House support for long-range public TV funding became contingent on decentralizing control outside Washington and New York. Reorganization and renaming of top management ensued; currently Mr. Nixon is contemplating appointing the widow of his old political adviser, Murray Chotiner, to the board of the Corp. for Public Broadcasting.

A new system called "Station Program Co-operative," bidding for specific programs is boosting the prospects for cheaper productions, while some high-class public affairs programming already has been dropped.

These changes were just what Dr. Whitehead ordered, and, in response, the doctor drew up a plan for long-range funding — over five years, in increasing steps from $70 million to $100 million annually. That would enable producers to plan comfortably ahead about how to fill the air time left empty by the departure of some of the public sector's best shows.

HOWEVER, THIS WEEK came a report that Mr. Nixon is going to reject the proposed funding, pulling the rug out from under his own telecommunications expert. A White House spokesman promptly denied this, saying no decision had been made yet.

However it comes out, this back-and-forth proves how inexorable is the intrusion of politics along with government money. Public television will do much better to seek funding strictly from private sources. The Ford Foundation has carried much of the private share of this funding in the past; let that be balanced by other foundations, liberal and conservative. Let corporations chip in on a grander scale.

But let the federal government keep its hand out of television, public or private, as it must keep its hand out of every other medium of free speech and press. By definition, that means its money, too.

Kissinger Questions Damaging To Press

The United States press has obviously "lost face" with people the world over for its vicious and incredible attack on our secretary of state at his recent homecoming news conference.

For the well being of our country, and of the press itself, I suggest that the press not turn their guns toward Henry Kissinger, but toward themselves.

Ballet-Aquacade Historic Occasion

The 29th annual presentation of the Ballet-Aquacade of Marin, Inc. is now history, and it was a great pleasure to dedicate this year's show to our honorary chairman, Mr. Ernie Smith. It was my privilege to preside at this historic occasion, and I would like to express my personal appreciation and gratitude to all who participated, assisted and supported Ballet-Aquacade. It is because of the dedication of all those individuals that the production was such a grand success. All net proceeds of this event will be presented to the Marindale School for the Orthopedically Handicapped Children.

This Reader Pleased To Have 'Lolly' Back

Thank you so much for putting "Lolly" back in your comics. Since you removed her months ago, I haven't even turned to that page, and lo and behold the other night I was just leafing through the paper and there she was. There are six of us at home and we are all Lolly fans.

Incidentally, my father who is 78 years old goes to San Rafael every day and walks around town to browse and buy a goodie now and then. Anyway he came home the other day and said, "Why don't you drop a line to the Independent and tell them to tell those builders (where the courthouse was) to put a few 'sidewalk superintendent' holes in the fencing so he can see in."

White Hill Improvements Seem Like Miracle

Miracles do happen.

Reconstruction work has been done by the Public Works Department on White's Hill (the barrier between Fairfax and San Geronimo Valley).

CAPITOL QUIPS

By PHIL DESSAUER

Don't worry; Nixon won't let Henry Kissinger resign. A President doesn't give up his security blanket that easily.

What the secretary of state needs is someone like Kissinger to negotiate peace between him and his critics.

After Nixon's cheering reception in Cairo, the Republican Party's plans for the 1974 elections are bound to include an Egyptian strategy.

The Boy Scouts of America are involved in a membership-padding scandal. That's the one thing scouts aren't prepared for.

"I'd like it cleaned and pressed as soon as possible."

The narrow and hazardous crest on the westerly side has been widened and two very distinct double lines have been added over this portion.

Also, an extensive area very well repaved.

This should help to eliminate some of the "close calls" and fatal accidents that have occurred.

Thanks, San Geronimo Valley "Home Owners" Association. Your tireless and persistent efforts to get this work done, are, I am sure, greatly appreciated by the residents of San Geronimo Valley. And, undoubtedly there was an able assist from our supervisor, Mr. Gary Giacomini.

Coroner-Elect Looks Forward To Office

I want to thank you for your editorial support of my candidacy for Marin County coroner-Public Administrator. I am certain it was an important factor in determining the outcome of the election.

I hope that, as Marin's new coroner-public administrator (beginning in January), the citizens will perceive my service as reflecting both professional and personal integrity. I would also like to express my appreciation to the many people who showed their confidence in me by their endorsements and assistance.

Hopefully the voters have gained a better understanding of the service provided by the office of coroner-public administrator as a result of this election, and I will continue to stress the educational aspects of the office throughout the forthcoming term.

Leadership Needed To Save Home Owners

Every year about this time, I receive calls from friends who are shocked at their new assessments. This year these calls came in larger bunches with greater indignation than ever.

Without exception, after a few inquiries about their house and its location, my estimate of the fair market value has exceeded the assessor's fair market value. The fact is, the assessor is doing a fair and excellent job of equalizing the assessments considering the increased work load caused by soaring and shifting values caused by inflation and shortages of supply. But the assessor simply records what is happening, he is not responsible for what is happening.

We must stop grumbling about assessments and start grumbling about the costs of government. But as protesting taxpayers, we lack organization. Special interest groups on the other hand, make very effective group appearances to promote their causes.

What we need as taxpayers is some organization so that we can be represented as a group each time another increase in government service is proposed.

The situation in Marin is at a very critical point. The Baxter McDonald predictions of the cost of the General Plan are frightening and yet I feel Baxter McDonald smooths over and considerably understates what the actual costs will be.

Won't someone step forward to lead us in a constructive taxpayer's counter force to the welfare philosophy before we are destroyed by it.

Protests Security On Congressional Trips

Some of your privileges as a California voter have been recently lost because of legislation introduced by Rep. Wayne L. Hay, D-Ohio. He is chairman of the subcommittee that initiated an amendment to eliminate the publishing of the junkets of congressmen, their wives and associates in the Congressional Record. This amendment was passed by the present largely Democratic Congress.

I would like to offer you California voters a challenge. Is this withholding of information from public view what you want? Is Representative Hay reflecting the wishes of the California congressional delegates whom you elected? Why are you not given the privilege of being the watchdog of your tax dollars being spent by congressmen on these junkets?

If you feel you are freely entitled to the complete accounting of your congressional delegates' junkets, write to Representative Hay, write to your U. S. senators from California and U. S. representatives telling them you disapprove of introducing backroom politics into governmental proceedings.

Take a stand in behalf of your rights as a citizen. All congressmen are responsible to us the voters. Yours should be.

Nixon's Impeachment For Wrong Reasons

It appears to me that the ultimate tragedy of the twentieth century is being unveiled in Washington, D. C. A committee of the House of Representatives is deliberating to determine if there are sufficient grounds to support an impeachment indictment of the president. The evidence they are examining concerns the part the president may have played in the Watergate cover-up.

I submit that the House committee is examining the wrong evidence and should rather be looking at the following:

1. So-called "building bridges" to communist nations that have sworn to "bury us".

2. Consorting with the enemy by visiting red China and red Russia.

3. Urging "most favored nation" status to communist countries that provided the war material to kill our boys in "no-win wars" in Korea and Southeast Asia.

4. Created shortages and higher prices here at home of all sorts of food and economic goods in order to feed and clothe the people of communist countries so they would not revolt against their totalitarian governments.

5. Urged millions upon millions of dollars in loans to these communist countries at low interest rates and underwritten by the American taxpayer.

This list could go on and on unfortunately. And it makes me wonder if his objective in doing these things is the same as the Ford Foundation as stated by one of its former presidents before a committee of the Congress, and as follows: "... to so re-structure our society so that it may be comfortably merged with the Soviet Union." This is the tragedy of our times for all freedom-loving people.

Whom Do Oil Companies Fear Most — And Give Most Money?

Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Garden Grove, his party's nominee for state controller, claims he is the man the oil companies fear most.

Judging from his campaign finance reports, however, what he may fear most is the fact he got a lot of oil money to grease his campaign.

The staff of his Republican opponent, Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael, cross-checked contributors listed by Cory with the personnel directory of the California Oil and Gas Producers, and found some interesting details left off the Cory reports.

BOTH E. W. PAULEY and Edwin W. Pauley are listed separately as contributors living in Los Angeles, but with business affiliation left blank. Pauley is chairman of the board of Pauley Petroleum Inc.

Charles C. Albright of Corona Del Mar is listed on Cory's reports as a "consultant." Not mentioned was that he is president of the California Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association.

A more subtle obfuscation was Cory's listing of Rosemary Stinnett of Palos Verdes Estates as a housewife, overlooking her position as secretary-treasurer of McRoybil Petroleum Co.

Glenn C. Ferguson of Bakersfield was listed by Cory as a contributor, but no mention was made of his position as partner in Carneros Oil Co. and president of the Independent Oil and Gas Producers of California.

Another contributor was Jerome J. O'Brien of Los Angeles, who happens to be president of the Seaboard Oil and Gas Co. All you could tell about contributor William T. Woodward was that he lives in Taft, but the personnel directory adds that he is chairman of the conservation committee (District 9) of the California Oil Producers.

James S. Gilstrap of Irvine is listed by Cory as "retired," but Bagley's staff found he is director of public relations for General Crude Oil Co.

The point seems clear. Cory has a terrific slogan, but somehow the facts appear contrary to its claim. If anything, Cory is using the independent oil companies to bankroll a campaign based on widespread public hostility toward the major oil companies.

It promises to be a hot campaign. SAUSALITO CITIZENS opposing the Golden Gate Bridge District's plans for a permanent downtown ferry terminal in their community are arming themselves for a campaign against it before the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The district has not applied yet for a commission permit, but will soon. The citizens, who clearly represent a very broad chunk of the city's population, know the fight before the commission is their last good chance to stop the terminal.

All they want is for the city to have control over the number of ferry passengers using the terminal. If they fight hard enough before the BCDC, they just might win.

Father's Day Is Real Fete For Newlywed

LIVONIA, Mich. (UPI) — Leonard Fletke celebrated Father's Day with his 10 children. The day before, he had only four.

The 48-year-old Livonia widower got married Saturday night, and his new bride added six children from a previous marriage to the new family.

It was a long courtship, Fletke said—one that started 12 years ago over a pinochle game.

Fletke found himself pitted against Therese Tucker. The bride said the groom played his cards right.

The couple began dating after the deaths of their respective spouses. They soon began making plans to test the theory that it's cheaper by the dozen.

Developed Camp Site Fees Start Saturday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Beginning Saturday, vacationers using some 2,000 developed camp grounds in National Forests will have to resume paying fees ranging from $1 to $4 a day, the U.S. Forest Service announced today.

The camp grounds contain a total of about 53,000 individual family camping spaces. Forest Service officials said Congress last year eliminated fees for most of their camp grounds, but a recent law reinstated authority for the charges.

Officials said that, as in the past, fees will be charged only at about 2,000 camp grounds which have convenience facilities like individual tent and trailer spaces, piped drinking water, toilet facilities and access roads.

Spokesmen said the Forest Service will continue its traditional policy of making no charge for use of 3,000 smaller, less developed camp grounds which can accommodate about 28,000 family groups at a time.

John R. McGuire, Chief of the Forest Service, said the agency lost $5 million in revenues because of last year's suspension of fees. He said the public will benefit from revival of the "minimal" charges because the money is used to improve and manage recreation facilities.

Death of JFK To Be Explored

Rusty Rhodes, who has spent 10 years investigating President John F. Kennedy's assassination, will speak at the College of Marin June 27 at 7 p.m. in Olney Hall.

His lecture, "Political Assassinations of the 1960's" will include films, a slide presentation, ballistic reports and a photo analysis of a photo of Lee Harvey Oswald.

The lecture, sponsored by the investigating committee, is being held in conjunction with a petition drive launched to force Congress to reopen files of the Kennedy assassination. A question and answer session will follow his talk.

No Quick Arms Pact Forecast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger said today there appears to be no chance of a comprehensive U.S.-Soviet arms control pact at the Moscow Summit conference but said some agreement might be reached to restrict missile deployment.

Asked at a news conference about prospects of President Nixon signing an agreement for permanent, comprehensive strategic arms controls when he goes to Moscow in 10 days, Schlesinger said, "I do not believe that there is any likelihood of that being achieved in Moscow."

During his 1972 Summit trip to Russia, the President signed an interim limitation agreement running until 1977. Negotiations since then have failed to iron out differences on a fuller agreement.

Schlesinger said that even without a comprehensive treaty, "the Moscow meeting could very well be successful."

He cited as possibilities for inclusion in a limited agreement restrictions on the pace for deploying multiwarhead missiles, steps to restrict underground nuclear tests and limitations on experimentation with new missiles.

The United States has been deploying multiheaded missiles, called MIRVs, since 1970. Schlesinger said the Soviet Union was "probably close to being ready for deployment" of its first MIRV.

Spending, Hiring Grow In State Governments

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL. State governments are growing at a sizzling pace, and in some of the 50 states spending has quadrupled in 20 years. In others, the state employs up to 5 per cent of the working force.

From New York's $19.5 billion budget to North Carolina, where bureaucracy is growing at a much faster rate than the population, the trend in most states is to bigger and more expensive operations, according to a United Press International survey.

California, with a population of about 21 million, spends an estimated 10 per cent of its gross state product on government. The state is spending more than $15 billion this fiscal year, including $5.3 billion in federal money, more than three times the $4.1 billion spent a decade ago, which included $900 million in federal funds.

The state employs 189,000 persons, but that does not include those working for the 407 cities, 58 counties, 1,054 school districts, 2,727 special districts and 895 water districts, which spend almost another $15 billion a year between them.

New York has a budget of $9.3 billion, not including federal funds, and employs 202,000 persons, the largest single employer and single biggest spender in the state. Ten years ago, the state had a budget of $2.9 billion and had about 164,000 people working for it.

Add county, city, village, town and school districts to the state figures and government in New York tallies up to a total cost of $19.5 billion employing about 944,000 persons, or one in every 20 of the state's 18,584,400 residents.

The Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, a taxpayer organization, says New York has the highest state and local tax burden in the country, surpassing its nearest rival, California, by nearly $100 per person. In 1973 state and local tax collectors took about $174.50 for every $1,000 in personal earnings.

In virtually all cases, the number of people working for governments has ballooned in the past decade.

State employees in Texas account for 4.44 per cent of the estimated population of 11,976,000 in 1974 compared with 3.38 per cent in 1964. In Montana, the 16,462 government employees was about 2.3 per cent of the population. In Colorado, state employees account for 2.1 per cent of the population and local government another 4.2

per cent. Alaska's state workforce of 14,000 is 3.9 per cent of the population compared with 2.5 per cent a decade earlier.

State government spending in Texas increased 195 per cent in the past 10 years, from $1.14 billion in 1964 to $3.38 billion this fiscal year. Over 20 years, the increase was 532 per cent.

The same has been true of most other states. In Louisiana, for example, the state government employs 127,000 to administer the $1.6 billion, minus federal funds, it now spends. Ten years ago, 87,000 worked for the state when it was spending $697 million. Indiana's 1960-61 budget was $415 million, while this year it's about $2.9 billion.

But there still were many states where government was not expensive compared with the average of $522.49 that was collected across the country in 1971-72.

In Maine, where only 16,736 persons work for the state, the average was $267 for state and local government operations; in Virginia, $418.62; Indiana, $444.11, and in Louisiana, per capita state taxes are $379.

Tiburon Homeowners Group Picks Doherty

John J. Doherty of 75 Rowley Circle, Tiburon, has been elected president of the recently reactivated Del Mar Valley Property Owners Association in Tiburon.

Doherty, 50, said the 75-member organization works to "maintain the quality of life of the neighborhood and to insure the participation of residents in any action which may tend to change it."

He pointed to the recent installation of mail boxes in the Del Mar Valley area as one example of the group's work.

But the new president stressed the real purpose of the group is to promote a feeling of neighborliness.

Doherty is also active in the Tiburon Peninsula Club and the Propeller Club in San Francisco and is a member of the Parish Council of St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon.

Caution Flag Is Raised On Use Of Acupuncture

CHICAGO (UPI) — Promiscuous use of acupuncture as a disease cure poses an important and potentially dangerous health problem, the director of the federal government's acupuncture study committee said today.

In the current edition of the Journal of the American Medical Association, committee head Dr. John J. Bonica warned that unwarranted use of acupuncture in efforts to cure a variety of ailments is potentially dangerous.

Needles can break off in patients, vital internal organs can be punctured, spinal damage could occur and — most seriously — reliance on acupuncture therapy could delay initiation of proper medical treatment until it is too late for such treatment to succeed, he warned.

"Many unscrupulous persons are exploiting the public's interest by the way they operate their acupuncture 'centers' or 'institutes'. In addition to the fact that such facilities are usually run more like 'mills', where several hundred patients are treated daily and are charged what I consider exorbitant fees, they mislead the public and lure patients with their Madison Avenue techniques of advertising their 'miracle cures,' claims that often are based on short-term results in one or at most a few patients," Bonica said.

He said that, in order to establish acupuncture's efficacy during its temporary legalization, the technique should be considered experimental and should be used in laboratory studies, controlled clinical trials and clinical surveys.

There is sufficient evidence, he said, that acupuncture may find a place in accepted American medicine. But, he added, "I know of no incontrovertible scientific evidence that it is any more than placebo therapy or that it has high therapeutic efficacy in the many disease states for which it is being used."

He said that, through his reviews of acupuncture on a three-week trip to China, communication with other American doctors and reviews of articles, the claims of high efficiency of acupuncture in China are not based upon well-controlled clinical trials.

"In fact," he wrote, "in many health stations (in China) and even some hospitals, no records are kept of either the patient's history or his response to therapy."

Strike May Shut More Ford Plants

DETROIT (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. shut down four assembly plants in the United States and Canada until further notice today because a strike at a key stamping plant shut off the flow of auto and truck parts.

The president of the United Auto Workers union, Leonard Woodcock, said the strike could result in massive layoffs throughout the Ford system within the next few days.

A company spokesman said he could not confirm that.

The strike, which started last Tuesday at the key Chicago Heights stamping plant, halted production of such items as hoods, doors and roofs used in virtually all Ford vehicles.

About 4,000 workers went on strike at the stamping plant over failure to obtain a local contract agreement to supplement the national settlement reached last autumn.

The production halt led to parts shortages resulting in the shutdowns today of assembly plants in Los Angeles, Kansas City, Mo., St. Thomas, Ont., and Oakville, Ont.

The four plants employ about 8,900 workers and produce Thunderbirds, Pintos, Mavericks and Comet autos and light and medium trucks.

The Chicago Heights plant turns out about 80 per cent of Ford's truck body parts as well as auto hoods, doors and other parts.

Woodcock spoke at ceremonies in Chicago marking the installation of new officers of Local 588, the UAW local involved in the Chicago Heights walkout.

Moscow's Jews Express Worry Over Nixon Visit

MOSCOW (UPI) — Eighty Soviet Jews said today they expect no help from President Nixon in their effort to emigrate to Israel but urged him not to make their situation worse when he comes here June 27.

In an open letter to Nixon made available to Western correspondents, the Jews said they were not asking for help in emigrating to Israel because "many hopes were placed on your first visit. Unfortunately not a single one of these hopes was realized."

"For many Jews, your 1972 visit meant an escalation of persecution," including preventive arrests, travel restrictions and the cutting of telephones, they said.

This time, they said, "we want only one thing."

"Please do not help your partners in the Moscow talks to make our difficult situation an unbearable one."

Jewish emigration so far this year has been about 25 per cent below the corresponding period for 1974.

I need help from a very broad-minded listener. My first marriage was a disaster, and then I married the same kind of man again. Present husband has had one affair after another, has contracted VD, left me when I was pregnant, but now that he's settled down somewhat he wonders why I can't love or trust him.

Consequently I've lost faith in men. I try to be a "good wife," for the sake of my children but, Helen, I've met a woman who is a true friend. She's divorced.

We're compatible in every way. When I left my husband and stayed with her for a month I was the happiest I've ever been. Now that I'm back with him, I'm miserable again.

She wants me to live with her, work and raise our children together. Mine get along well with hers — it's a complete family except that she's not a man. We'd raise our kids straight, in a happy home, free of the fights and misery I've experienced with my husbands.

I guess all my life I've been pulled toward this kind of relationship but have resisted. Perhaps that's why my marriages have been such failures. And hers too.

Is there a law against two women who love each other living together (if they behave)? Yes, the world would call us lesbians, but we don't flaunt it.

Tiburon Man Claims Bride In Annapolis

David Winslow Jr. of Tiburon claimed for his bride Susan Davis of Annapolis, Md., on Saturday at the Evangelical Presbyterian Church in Annapolis.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Winslow of Tiburon. He is a graduate of Shawngan Lake School in British Columbia and attended Amherst College in Amherst, Mass.

Presently he is studying small boat yacht design at New York Institute of Technology, L.I.

He is the brother of Mrs. Walter H. Weld of Dover, Mass., and Tiburon residents Rebecca Stevens Winslow, Pamela Newhall Winslow, Christopher Winslow and Jeffrey Winslow.

His bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Davis Jr. of Annapolis. She was graduated from Mount Holyoke College in South Hadley, Mass. where she was elected to Sigma Xi National Honorary Science Fraternity.

Susan is the sister of Mrs. William Roule of Santa Barbara and Mrs. Joseph Anthony of Philadelphia, who were her bridesmaids. Patricia Anne Gibson of Annapolis was maid of honor.

The best man was Thomas Moss of Edina, Minn. Christopher and Jeffrey Winslow seated the guests.

A reception was held following the 1 p.m. ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. The couple left on a wedding trip to the West Coast.

They plan to live in Oyster Bay, L.I.

Clothing Swap Slated June 23

A free clothing exchange will be held in San Rafael June 23, sponsored by the Marin Women's News Journal and the Marin Young Women's Christian Association.

The exchange will be held from noon to 4 p.m. at the Marin YWCA, 1618 Mission Avenue in San Rafael.

Families and individuals may bring clothing for men, women and children to exchange for a new wardrobe. Clothing should be wearable and brought in sorted in boxes or bags by the type of clothing and the sizes.

Clothing donations may be brought to the YWCA Women's Center any weekday next week between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Refreshments will be served and child care will be available during the exchange, according to Bonnie Eisenberg of the News Journal.

A small door donation will be requested of persons who do not bring clothing to exchange.

'June Moon' Shows Timeless Qualities

By GERALD GENESE

"June Moon," by George Kauffman and Ring Lardner, now being performed in repertory at the Inside/Out Cafe at the Great Store in San Rafael, is billed as a nostalgic comedy. This production of "June Moon," which was written in 1929, seems to transcend period setting and concentrates more on the universal aspect of its theme — the loss of innocence of its young protagonist, the unpublished lyricist from Schenectady, N.Y., Fred Stephens (Kevin Reilly).

Director Michelle Truffaut has decided to concentrate more on the character development and the actors' relationships to one another than on nostalgia. And this is the play's inherent strength.

Miss Truffaut has adroitly contrasted the innocence, freshness, naivete and spontaneity of Reilly and Eddie (Charlene Gottman), the girl he meets on an odyssey to New York with the jaded, somewhat worldly characters he meets and befriends.

It is like throwing a goldfish into a tank of sharks. The contrast of types is clear, but not jarring. Miss Truffaut has a facility for getting her ideas across without beating the audience over the head.

Stephens arrives in New York with a letter of introduction to an established composer Paul Sears (Sean Taylor). Sears hasn't had a hit since he wrote, "Paprika," three years before, his emotional stability and marriage are unraveling under the pressures of trying to write another hit song. His wife, Lucille (Wana Dowell), is constantly sniping at him for his inadequacies. She is quite adequately aided in this game by a friend, Eileen (Janis Ward), who seems to be living with them. Eileen's main ambition is to marry a successful music publisher, Mr. Heart (David Ames). Maxine (Rosemary Rando), a clever and witty friend of Sears', visits the apartment to discuss business.

SEN. CHARLES H. PERCY
Hits secrecy

Percy Says Surveillance Is Rampant

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Charles H. Percy says America is a land of secret surveillance in which even such trusted figures as teachers and doctors compile potentially ruinous dossiers on unsuspecting citizens.

Opening a drive for strict new federal privacy laws in a speech prepared for Senate delivery today, Percy, R-Ill., said invasion of privacy was "fast becoming the rule — not the exception — in American life," and snooping was not confined to federal agencies.

"Information that we provide to our doctors in the intimacy of their offices frequently finds its way to insurance companies, credit files and employment records without our knowledge or approval.

"The improper procurement and use of medical information has had devastating effects upon unsuspecting individuals. Marriages have been ruined and reputations have been destroyed," he said.

Percy said schools also have become major producers of secret personal files sometimes used by police and the government.

He quoted Dr. Carl Marburger, of the National Committee of Citizens in Education, as saying the country's school system maintains "the most vastly comprehensive data operation of any institution in the country. If you have a child in school, there is a dossier which sometimes contains inaccurate and potentially damaging information."

Percy said the federal government was still the major collector of personal data, adding that the FBI, the Internal Revenue Service and Army intelligence files could be put to "ominous" political use.

Like most analysts, Percy linked the spread of personal surveillance to the growing use of computerized data banks which permit easy storage and dissemination of information formerly buried in dusty files.

Percy said he and Democratic Sens. Sam J. Ervin of North Carolina and Edmund S. Muskie of Maine would introduce a bill to tighten legal standards for accuracy of personal files and limit their use.

Demos Faring Better As Voter Rolls Decline—Watergate?

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL
Democrats have made some gains in their party rolls, according to a nationwide check of registered voters. Registration, however, appears to be down in some states.

Some state officials blamed the trend on Watergate. Others said the lower figures might be caused by disenchanted young persons who don't bother to vote or a general lack of interest in the off-year elections.

In the majority of states

New Approach To Open Space Is Recommended

Abandoning its hope for a county service area to fund open space purchase, the North Ridge Action Committee has recommended that communities surrounding the ridge float their own open space bond issues.

Larkspur Mayor Joan L. Sestak, a member of the committee made up of representatives from Larkspur, Corte Madera and Mill Valley, said the committee decided Thursday that a county service area is not feasible.

She said Corte Madera and Mill Valley have other open space areas which they may wish to purchase which is why the joint service area was dropped.

All three communities will seek matching county funds for purchase of North Ridge lands, she said, and all will be encouraged to make the ridge their "first priority" for open space purchase.

where voters register by party, general registration was down and Republicans lost more than Democrats. And in the majority of states where the general registration was up, GOP gains were less than Democratic gains.

Registration was reported down in Maryland, Kentucky, Oregon, West Virginia, Delaware, California, Virginia. The Republicans were losing more voters than the Democrats in West Virginia, Kentucky, Oregon and California.

Registration was up in Hawaii, New York, Iowa, Texas, Nebraska, Pennsylvania, Indiana, South Dakota, Connecticut, Oklahoma, and New Mexico. In these states, with the exception of Texas and Indiana which have no party figures, Democrats recorded bigger gains than Republicans.

Many states were still in the process of registering voters.

Colorado Secretary of State Mary Estill Buchanan, in forecasting a 2.5 per cent registration slump due to off-year elections, said final figures in August also could show dramatic increases or decreases — either voters are so angry they won't vote at all, or they will switch party affiliation.

California Secretary of State Edmund Brown Jr., the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, said he considered the slight January-June Republican registration slump and the increased independent vote a "disaffiliation" basically with the Republican party.

"The Democrats are maintaining a constant figure and the Republicans are dropping down," Brown said. "It's a small drop, but that is definitely a trend."

COSTLY CREATURE — Dr. W. Richard Dukelow attempts to weigh a female rhesus monkey in his lab at Michigan State University. The scientist said overseas sources of monkeys — needed for research — are hoarding them like gold or oil. (UPI Telephoto)

International Politics, Ecology Dry Up U.S. Monkey Supplies

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — The United States is in the grip of a monkey shortage, Michigan State University scientists warn.

Monkeys are being hoarded on world markets like precious gold and oil. The shortage could seriously impair medical research and eventually eliminate pet monkey sales.

Dr. W. Richard Dukelow, head of the endocrine research unit at Michigan State, said some 56,000 monkeys are needed each year in the U.S. to keep up with research demands.

Virtually all species of primates are being held ransom by the governments of their native lands for political, economic and environmental reasons, he said.

"A number of factors, including heavy lumbering of monkey habitats, the Vietnam War and political alignments have caused a rather severe shortage of monkeys in the United States," Dukelow said.

"Next year, India will cut its export of rhesus monkeys from 60,000 to 30,000."

Rhesus monkeys, the chief species used in medical studies, are vital in the study of polio and other human diseases.

Thus far, the effect of the monkey shortage has manifested itself primarily in hefty price increases.

The price of a rhesus monkey, Dukelow said, has gone from $40 to $100 and may top $400 within the next few years.

The squirrel monkey, second most important clinically, sold for $23 three years ago and now averages $65. A favorite pet, squirrel monkeys are used chiefly in the study of heart disease and hardening of the arteries.

"The U.S. government is currently negotiating with the Peruvian government to increase monkey exports," Dukelow said. "But the South American governments, and perhaps rightly so, see it as a depletion of their natural resources."

"We'll soon see legislation outlawing the private owning of primates," he predicted.

Thieves Show Towering Gall

EDWARDVILLE, Ill. (UPI) — A 100-foot radio tower was stolen along with a number of other items in a weekend burglary from the Phacker Construction Co., police reported today.

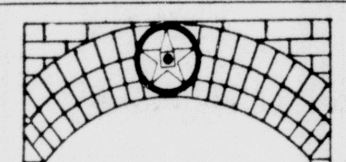

The owner of the firm, Floyd Phacker, told police he discovered the theft yesterday when he stopped by his office.

The thieves entered a rear window and got away with office equipment, two mobile radio units and the tower. Value of the loot was placed at more than $10,000.

"The squirrel monkey, for example is the major pet monkey. But only one per cent live out a year. Their owners find that they're not that good as pets and either kill them, have them killed or inadvertently kill them through a poor diet. They literally starve to death."

The solution to the monkey shortage, Dukelow said, is in breeding them in the United States.

"The answer is definitely to raise monkeys in the Southern United States, which is the closest habitat we have to a jungle," he said.

Court Lets Stand Kerner Conviction

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court let stand today the conviction of former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner Jr., the first sitting federal judge to be found guilty of a felony.

In a brief order with Justice Thurgood Marshall not participating, the court refused to hear pleas by Kerner's lawyers that a judge cannot be convicted in criminal court without first being impeached by the House and removed from office by the Senate.

Kerner, on leave of absence but still a judge of the 7th U.S. Court of Appeals in Chicago and drawing his $42,500 annual salary, was convicted last year of mail fraud, conspiracy, tax evasion and perjury.

In other major actions today, the court:

Ruled 6 to 3 that a state is not required to provide a lawyer to a convicted indigent when he appeals to the high court.

Sent to the U.S. Court of Appeals an appeal by biology teachers of Tennessee's "new

Board To Study Special School

Novato Unified School District trustees will consider a proposal for an alternative high school at a meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Novato High School lecture hall.

The proposal, presented to the board last month, is to have the alternative high school for 27 students during the 1974-75 school year.

It would be housed at North Marin High School in the former Pacheco School buildings, but not as a part of the continuation school.

monkey law," revising the one involved in the famed Scopes trial of 1925 which calls for inclusion of the Genesis theory in the teaching of evolution. In a related case, the Court refused to hear an appeal in which Bible fundamentalists argued that Houston, Tex., must use school texts giving "equal time" to the Genesis version.

Ruled that inspecting the outside of a suspect's car for evidence in a murder case is not the sort of "search" requiring a warrant.

Let stand a lower court decision that allowing nurses to give tranquilizers to unruly juveniles at state correctional institutions is cruel and unusual punishment under the Constitution.

Kerner and his former state revenue director, Theodore J.

Isaacs, were convicted in Chicago in 1973 on 17 criminal counts in connection with the acquisition of lucrative race track stock at below market prices while Kerner was governor. The prosecution had charged that the government officials gave favored treatment to tracks owned by Marjorie Everett, who gave the men the stock.

Kerner also was fined $50,000.

PARTICIPANT — Little Troy Michael Dayak, who is 3, toots his own horn as Sixth Army Band from the Presidio of San Francisco passes by. The band played sprightly music in the hour-long Novato Western Weekend parade Saturday, an event which featured lots of horses.

COLORFUL — Crowds swarm to the carnival rides and booths at the Western Weekend fairgrounds, where the four-day annual celebration wound up last night. An estimated 40,000 to 50,000 persons participated in the weekend.

Western Weekend Has Up To 50,000 Visitors

Some 40,000 to 50,000 persons turned out for one or more of the events which marked Novato's annual Western Weekend celebration, which closed last night.

Although attendance at Saturday's parade possibly was lighter than in other years, a crowd of 3,000 turned out for yesterday's rodeo, and several hundred latecomers were turned away because the arena was full.

Carnival rides and booths, western music, a buckaroo breakfast, tug-of-war and a waterball fight were also highlights of the celebration. Winners in Saturday's parade were:

Military bands — Sixth Army

Band, first, and Coast Guard Band, second.

Military color guard — Marine Corps, first, and Coast Guard, second.

Miscellaneous military — Army half-track.

Military float — Navy.

Noncommercial — Piano-organ warehouse.

Band — Celia Copper Villa.

Comic — Brad Ferris.

Income Tax Course To Begin Thursday

"Fundamentals of Tax Preparation," a basic course for income tax preparers, will be taught Thursdays from 7 to 9:30 p.m. beginning next Thursday through Sept. 12 at San Rafael High School.

Golden Gate University is conducting the class in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service. The course is designed to give participants instruction in the basic elements of the federal tax laws.

Further information can be obtained from Dean Raymond Harless, Golden Gate University, San Francisco.

Tenant Council Due Discussion Tuesday

Procedures for electing a seven-member tenant council to act as a liaison between residents of public housing and the Marin County Housing Authority will be discussed at its meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at 47 Paul Drive, San Rafael.

Date of the election has been set tentatively for the first week in July. The council of residents will act as intermediaries as well as oversee the modernization project for public housing apartments in Marin City.

SPLASH — Three Novato Jaycees pull mightily in a messy tug-of-war across a creek off Rowland Avenue. But nonetheless, they lost the battle to the Novato Chamber of Commerce team. The tug-of-war and a waterball fight between Novato and Kentfield firemen were features of yesterday's Western Weekend events.

Burglary Figure To Court

A young Colorado man who surrendered himself to San Francisco police, saying he felt guilty about burglarizing a Sausalito house, was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Joseph Lee Eaton, 20, surrendered Thursday and is scheduled to plead today to a charge of burglarizing the Third Street home of Bernard J. Guild. He is being held in lieu of $500 bail in Marin County Jail.

Sausalito police said Eaton, a transient, told investigators he wandered around Sausalito Wednesday after spending the night in a garage, then broke into Guild's house.

Police said the youth told them he took a camera and tape recorder and later pawned the camera in San Francisco for $100.

Eaton had intended to leave the Bay Area but felt "just terrible" about the crime, according to a police spokesman, and finally went to San Francisco police and turned himself in.

Wild Horses

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The large herds of wild mustangs that once roamed the Texas ranglands were descendants of horses which had been brought to the new world by Spanish explorers.

HANGIN'ON — Tom Castleberry manages a smile, or maybe it's a grimace as he grabs the horn in an effort to stay aboard his bucking bronc. Castleberry finally made it off safely, but he was disqualified from competition for holding the horn with both hands. Hundreds saw the Novato Western Weekend rodeo yesterday and many described it as the best one in years.

Skeleton Found In Sausalito Is Believed That Of An Indian

A 24-hour police guard has been placed at a vacant lot in Sausalito, where two off-duty firemen unearthed a human skeleton yesterday.

The skeleton is believed to be at least 500 years old and the lot, at 408 Pine Street, may be the site of an ancient Indian burial ground, according to archeologist Thomas Jackson of Mill Valley.

City officials today were trying to set up a meeting with the property owners, Dr. John Elliott of San Francisco and Barbara Elliott Ward of San Anselmo, to discuss the possibility of excavating the site.

The owners are planning to pave the lot, behind the old Elliott's laundry which recently was torn down, for a parking lot to serve a new commercial and professional building proposed for the laundry property.

The find, by Sausalito battalion chief Steven H. Bogel and fireman Larry Martinez, caused a brief stir among city officials yesterday until the archeologist and deputy coroner Donald Cornish determined that the skeleton was "archeological rather than recent." The entire area may be an Indian burial ground according to Martinez.

At 7 p.m. Wednesday Bogel, who was off duty, was browsing through the lot and discovered leg bones protruding from a dirt mound where a house recently had been demolished.

He said he assumed he had found Indian bones and sought archeological expertise from the College of Marin, but received no reply.

So yesterday he returned to the site with Martinez and uncovered the entire skeleton. The activity drew a crowd, requiring Sausalito Mayor Evert H. Heyneman to order the police guard so the bones are not disturbed "until we make some intelligent decision" on the matter, according to a police spokesman.

A WELCOME COMPARISON

Occasionally we are fortunate enough to get a home such as this. Outstanding area, close to schools and shopping. Large lot with plenty of parking, and most important, an extra large, immaculate luxury home that can not be duplicated. Starting with the immense family room with fireplace, cathedral ceilings, ceramic tile floor, wormwood paneling (this room is unbelievable), large living room with another rock fireplace, 3 large bedrooms, 2 baths, large modern kitchen, separate utility room and 2 car garage. We could go on and on with all the features, but see for yourself. This can not be duplicated at $53,950.

PAUL E. PARKER
Calls the cows

Ex-Farmer, 83, Is Top Hollerer

SPIVEY'S CORNER, N. C. (UPI) — Hollering into a microphone wasn't the way 83-year-old Paul E. Parker used to do it.

But Parker, a retired Sampson County farmer, rolled his sleeves up, gripped the standing microphone and gave the judges of the 6th National Hollerin' Contest Saturday what they considered the best holler of the 13 contestants vying for the coveted championship.

The father of nine children and grandfather of 10, who tried for the crown three years ago, said he'd been hollerin' most of his life and still hollers to call the cows in at night.

With members of the news media and his family surrounding him, the thin-framed man clutched at his golden firstplace trophy and told what winning it meant.

"It means heaps, I think," he said. "It'll mean a lot to folks who think I'm old. I wish you could have heard me holler 30 years ago."

The hollerin' contest, originated by Dunn banker Ermon Godwin in 1969 to revive a dying Eastern North Carolina tradition, has gained national attention, attracting persons this year from as far away as New York.

The gathering of nearly 3,000 in this crossroads community was a picture of contrasts.

The main attraction, the hollerin' contest, represented one of the earliest forms of communication in the country. Rural residents developed their own distinct hollers, many of them sounding like a cross between a yodel and a hum, and used them in communicating with neighbors, calling in the cattle and hogs, calling the dogs, and signaling distress.

ALMANAC

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL Today is Monday, June 17, the 168th day of 1974 with 197 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, was born June 17, 1703.

On this day in history:

In 1928, Amelia Earhart became the first woman to fly across the Atlantic Ocean. She was a passenger aboard a plane piloted by Wilmer Sultz.

In 1967, Communist China announced it had detonated a hydrogen bomb.

In 1971, the United States signed an agreement returning Okinawa to Japan.

In 1972, five men with cameras and bugging equipment were arrested in the "Watergate" headquarters of the Democratic National Committee in Washington, D.C., and charged with burglary. This was the beginning of the Watergate scandal.

A thought for the day: British poet Sir John Suckling said, "Women are the baggage of life: They are troublesome, and hinder us in the great march, yet we cannot do without them."

CLEAR SUIT

South won the first trick with the jack of hearts and led a spade, forcing out East's ace. Back came a heart, and West cleared the suit.

Unfortunately for South, the spades failed to break, so he had to try the diamonds in his search for a ninth trick. West took the ace of diamonds and ran the hearts, defeating the contract.

"I had to guess which ace to knock out," South remarked ruefully. "If I'd started the diamonds instead of the spades, I'd have made the contract."

NON-CONTACT SPORT — Baseball is considered a non-contact sport, but such was not the case in Pittsburgh Saturday in a game between the Pirates and the San Francisco

doza lost the ball after being bumped by Giants' Dave Kingman on a first-inning steal of second base.

Solis Hit Key Blow

Resounding Double Paces Sonoma Win

By LEW CODDINGTON

In a game in which most of the runs scored on bloopers and bobbles, it came as something of a surprise to see Dan Solis' two-run double carom-ing off the left center field fence on one hop. A surprise, and for Marin fans, a shock.

Solis' clout in the eighth inning lefted the Sonoma All-Stars to a 6-5 victory over their Marin counterparts Saturday night in their fourth annual high school baseball game at Albert Field.

It capped a surge which saw the Sonomans rally from a 4-1 deficit for the triumph. The series stands at 2-2.

Approximately 800 fans attended, with proceeds going to the college scholarship fund of the sponsoring Italian Athletic Club. Bruce Bollen of Terra Linda High School received this year's $500 stipend.

The patrons saw Solis, from Petaluma High School, deliver the hit which broke a 4-4 tie and plated Kelvin Chapman of Ukiah from second base and Bruce Stephenson of Sonoma from first. Both had walked off losing pitcher Jeff Lucchesi of Redwood.

Vic Holmstedt of Anal (Sebastopol) picked up the victory, though he tottered on the thin edge of disaster for three innings. Holmstedt struck out two batters in the seventh after one Marin runner reached second base, then retired three straight (two on strikeouts) after Marin loaded the bases with none out in the eighth.

Trying to hold a 6-4 lead in the ninth, Holmstedt surrendered two walks, a wild pitch and a run-scoring single by Alvin Hall of Tamalpais before retiring the final two batters.

Hall was named the game's most valuable player. He hit three singles in five times up, scored a run, drove one in and ran the bases alertly.

Marin jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the second inning on five straight singles which, if placed end to end, would not have reached the hot dog stand.

Hall's leadoff single was solid enough, as was the hit by Garry LaTorre of Redwood. After a wild pitch, Matt Dockstader of San Rafael beat out an infield roller to score a run, Redwood's Doug Hartman had a Texas Leaguer drop in, and Terra Linda's Kevin Kirby accounted for two runs with a bloop single barely behind first base.

In the fifth, Redwood's Phil Bacigalupi singled home Terra Linda's Buck McCusker for a 4-1 Marin lead. McCusker walked, stole second and continued to third on a bad throw by the catcher.

Sonoma scored in the second when Gary Barteo of Anal was hit by Kirby's pitch with the bases loaded. Singles by Rich Ergo of Montgomery (Santa Rosa), Mike Maselli of Petaluma and Steve Vesper of Piner (Santa Rosa) preceded it.

Sonoma tied the game in the sixth, scoring twice on a bases-loaded passed ball and once on a solid opposite field single to left field by Sonoma's Stephenson. Maselli walked, Vesper singled and Dave Christiani of Piner walked before the passed ball.

Woeful Giants Seek Redemption Tonight

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The embattled San Francisco Giants, caught in a slump of seven failures in their last eight games, will try to redeem themselves tonight against the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Giants latest indignity was losing a three-game series at the hands of the Pittsburgh Pirates, capped by a 4-3 loss yesterday. The Giants lost Saturday, 3-2.

Before Sunday's game, Giants manager Charlie Fox permitted his coaching staff to participate in making up the batting order.

"This is a batting order devised by five men: the four coaches and me," he said.

The changes were slight and led to some early production but failed to keep the team rolling.

Singles by Garry Maddox and Ed Goodson scored two runs and Chris Arnold's sacrifice fly scored Maddox. And for the first time this season the Giants stole three bases, two by Bobby Bonds.

Jim Rooker, 3-5, survived the three-run first inning to pitch a five-hitter. He allowed just two singles and two walks the rest of the way, retiring 10 straight batters in one stretch.

Before starter Tom Bradley retired the side in Pittsburgh's half of the first inning the score was 3-2 and before the end of the second inning, which Bradley didn't survive, it was 4-3.

Pittsburgh was unable to get another run. San Francisco reliever Charlie Williams and Randy Moffitt held the Pirates scoreless on five hits over the final 6½ innings.

Meanwhile, a radio broadcaster, who delivers the Giants' play-by-play, publicly took a swing at the club after it dropped its seventh game in eight starts.

"This team doesn't care whether it wins or loses," Al Michaels announced over the air yesterday.

The Giants have "a lethargic, apathetic attitude," Michaels declared immediately after the last out, and before most listeners could turn their dials. "The players show a complete and total lack of respect for the manager."

Michaels said he was speaking for himself, and not on instructions from the Golden West Network, which hired him last year, or from Giants' owner Horace Stoneham. Nevertheless, as one of two Giants commentators, he remains the team's implied spokesman.

Neither Stoneham nor Fox would comment on Michaels' outburst.

Several players contacted later refused to blame Fox for the string of losses.

"I'm playing for myself and my salary this year and next year and the year after that," said an infielder, who asked not to be identified. "It's ridiculous to say I would deliberately play poorly to spite a manager. If I did, I'd be spitting myself."

A relief pitcher blamed his own art, saying the club is short of starting pitchers.

Identity Crisis For Open Champ

Stern-Faced Irwin Is Contemplating Prospects

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (UPI) — As the new holder of golf's most prestigious prize, stern-faced Hale Irwin faces a major identity crisis.

He has to decide whether to go on being his own colorless self, or to become a second Jack Nicklaus.

Irwin, a former football standout at Colorado, presented this perplexing problem for himself after winning the U.S. Open championship yesterday, coming from one shot off the pace to beat Forrest Fezler by two strokes. Tied for third, another shot back, were Bert Yancey and Lou Graham.

Although a competent golfer who has shown strong improvement since joining the tour in 1968, Irwin hasn't portrayed the same kind of public image as such other men as Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Gary Player. While it doesn't particularly concern him, a victory such as the one that earned him $35,000 on Sunday does leave people asking, "Hale who?"

"I like having a low profile," the handsome, dark-haired Irwin said. "I can't say I want to be anonymous, but I think there's a time and a place for everything. I haven't felt before this that I deserved to be in the spotlight."

"I'm not going to change now. This is just one tournament — needless to say a very big one — and it'll be good for me, good for my ego. But that doesn't mean I'll be something I'm not. I won the way I am. If that means being anonymous, I can't help it."

Irwin's first major triumph fell something short of artistic merit as he shot no better than a three-over-par 73 for his final round, with four bogeys in the final nine, and his winning score of 287 was seven over par for the tournament, the highest by an open champion in 11 years.

Most of the credit for the incredibly high scores, though, must go to the tortuous Winged Foot golf club, whose 6,961 yards yielded only eight sub-par rounds during the four days. Irwin was unable to better par once — his best effort being an even-par 70 on Friday — and neither did Fezler, who closed with a 70.

USC Ends All Doubts In Baseball

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — With clockwork routine, Southern California settled all doubts Saturday about college baseball's supremacy in the 28th annual College World Series.

Hobbled by injuries throughout the season and sporting a 45-19 record coming into the series, Coach Rod Dedeaux's Trojans waited off with an unprecedented fifth straight championship, their tenth in the history of the series, with a 7-3 victory over the Miami Hurricanes.

USC wound up the season with a 50-20 mark, while Miami ended up with a record of 51-11. It was the first appearance ever in the series for Miami.

Southern Cal scored three runs off losing pitcher Stan Jakubowski in the top half of the second inning when Bobby Mitchell reached base on an infield single. Ken Huizenga followed with a single when Miami left fielder Kim Siete was fooled by a deceptive wind and missed a fly ball.

Freshman first baseman Mark Carpenter drove in Mitchell with a single to left.

Both Carpenter and Huizenga advanced on a passed ball and scored when Creighton Tevlin grounded to Miami's first baseman, Orlando Gonzalez, whose lob to pitcher Jakubowski, covering at first, was too high.

Rob Adolph provided the victory margin for USC when he tagged Jakubowski for a two-run homer in the sixth. The ball cleared the left centerfield fence at the 370-foot mark.

George Milke claimed the victory in relief.

HAIL, IRWIN — Hale Irwin yesterday putted on the first green en route to victory in the U.S. Open at Mamaroneck, N.Y.

(UPI Telephoto)

Irwin, who said he had a dream three weeks ago that he would win the open, took control in his own mind on the ninth hole when he sank a 35-foot birdie putt that put him in the lead for good over his playing partner and friend, Tom Watson.

"I felt a lot better when I made that putt," he said. "I felt that being on top I was driving the car and they would have to find me."

They couldn't. Watson, after carrying a one-stroke lead into the final round, folded with a closing 79 that placed him at 292, in a tie for fifth place with Palmer, who had a 76, and Jim Colbert, with a 74.

"It looks like I blew it, and you can say I blew it," said the 24-year-old Watson, still seeking his first tour victory although

Kite for eighth place at 293 and another stroke back were Nicklaus, who turned in a closing 69, and Buddy Allin, with a 73. Johnny Miller, the defending open champion who admitted that he has lost his competitive desire after winning five tournaments this year never was in it and his final round 77 left him at 302. 15 strokes off the pace. Booter Banned For 3 Matches

Combined AP & UPI

FRANKFURT, Germany — The International Football Federation today banned Uruguay defender Julio Montero Castillo for three World Cup matches.

Castillo was sent off in the match against Holland Saturday for attacking a Dutch player away from the ball.

A spokesman for the organizers said yesterday Castillo would be suspended only for one match but FIFA's disciplinary committee ruled the offense was serious enough to warrant the heaviest penalty used in World Cup matches.

Castillo will miss Uruguay's matches against Bulgaria and Sweden and, if Uruguay qualifies for the second final round, that first match as well.

TWIN PACKS PUNCH — Sliding Minnesota baserunner Rod Carew yesterday appeared to be landing a solid right to the jaw of Indians' third baseman Ed Crosby at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium. No punch was thrown as Carew stole third base during the third inning of the first game in a double-header. (UPI Telephoto)

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

No Sweat For Hefty Lefty Lolich

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

It was no sweat for Mickey Lolich.

The hefty Detroit lefty hurled his 12th complete game of the season and ninth in a row yesterday when he pitched the Tigers to a 3-2 victory in 11 innings over the Kansas City Royals in a game played in chilly 50 degree weather.

"The cold weather enabled me to go the 11 innings," said Lolich, whose resplendent pot belly first came to public attention in 1968 when he won three games, including the decisive seventh contest, against St. Louis in the world series.

"The hot weather makes the bulky man sweat," added the 6-foot-1, 207-pound southpaw who posted 1 1/3 third win in a row and raised his record for the season to 8-7.

Vesper Rowers Represent U.S.

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Vesper Rowing Club of Philadelphia will represent the United States in Switzerland following its win yesterday in the National Women's Rowing Championships.

Vesper edged defending champion Radcliffe College to win the featured open-eight race in the three-day regatta.

Bolinas Pair Wins Women's Ride, Tie

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (UPI) — Mary Tiscornia and Dawn Damas of Bolinas yesterday won their third consecutive title in the two-woman team category of fourth annual Levi's Ride and Tie Race here. Their prize money was unannounced.

Their time was six hours and six minutes. In the men's competition, Bill Posedel of Novato and Ray Batz of Walnut Creek were fourth at 4:53 and earned $393.75. Winners Gordy Ainsley and Jim Larimer of Auburn pocketed $3,150 while finishing at 4:12.

Italian Club Sweeps Weekend Baseball

The Italian Athletic Club evened its baseball record in a hurry over the weekend.

After dropping its first three games this season, the Club raised its Joe DiMaggio exhibition mark to 3-3 with a 3-2 victory Friday over Mt. Diablo Realty at Mt. Diablo High School and a 7-5, 5-2 doubleheader sweep of Meyer's Safety Switch yesterday at West Sunset in San Francisco.

Stansbury Beaten By Best In Fresno Net

FRESNO — Tiburon's Cary Stansbury was beaten by the best here Friday in the opening round of the first Maze Cup tennis tournament.

Stansbury, rated ninth in the United States in Boys' 14, was defeated, 5-7, 6-3, 6-3, in Boys' 16 singles by nationally top-ranked Howard Schoenfeld of Beverly Hills.

AS A'S STRUGGLE

Dark Showing Some Concern

OAKLAND (UPI) — The world champion Oakland A's are struggling, no question about it, and mostly because they can't stay away from injuries, and star pitcher Jim "Catfish" Hunter suddenly isn't as overpowering as he once was.

Yesterday's 5-3 loss to the New York Yankees, the A's seventh in the last nine games, illustrated Oakland's plight, and for the first time manager Alvin Dark is showing concern.

"Maybe one of these days we'll be able to play with our regular team," said Dark. "Somehow we just can't seem to stay away from injuries. On top of that, Hunter isn't sharp and he's really struggling."

The A's started yesterday's game with shortstop Bert Campaneris on the bench with an injured finger. Campaneris didn't play in the A's 9-1 win Saturday then in the seventh inning, they lost centerfielder Billy North after he collided with rightfielder Reggie Jackson while chasing a popup to short right center yesterday. Jackson got his glove on the ball, then dropped it as North came crashing into him. Ironically, the two are barely on speaking terms these days after a clubhouse fight in Detroit on June 5.

Both fell hard to the ground with Jackson suffering a slight cut on his right cheek and North being knocked out cold. Finally, North got up on rubbery legs, much like a felled boxer, and was taken to a hospital for overnight observation.

Jackson isn't exactly in good shape, either. He's been playing with a sore shoulder, hurt in the fight with North in Detroit, and he needs shots to help ease the pain.

The Yankees won the game in the ninth inning yesterday when Elliott Maddox lifted a long fly

BOXER SHERRY BOWS IN AAU NATIONALS

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Ross' Paul Sherry has some consolation in defeat today.

The San Francisco Golden Gloves titlist Saturday lost a three-round decision to defending 139-pound champion Ray Leonard at the National Amateur Athletic Junior Senior boxing tournament. Sherry's consolation: he reached the finals against the man who was ultimately voted the outstanding small fighter in the tourney.

Leonard showed why he deserved the award by punishing Sherry with a combination of straight right hands and left hooks.

The Air Force's Jerome Bennett, formerly of Hamilton Air Force Base, won the 156-pound title by decisioning Larry Smith over three rounds.

Pitching Keys Knicks' Sweep

Pitching is considered the name of the game in baseball, and the Novato Knickerbockers showed why yesterday.

Brad Johnson allowed just one single and struck out 10 to lead the Knicks to a 2-1 victory in the nightcap of a Sacramento Rural League semi-pro baseball doubleheader against visiting Benicia Industries.

The winning run was scored by Scott Harrington on a Nick Matto's single.

In the opener, reliever Ken

Siler entered the game in the fourth inning with a bases-loaded, two-out situation. He got the final out to protect the Knicks' lead and pitched the last three frames for a 6-2 win. Dan Metzger drove in three runs with two singles and Kevin Brant played two more with a double and single.

Bit Of Tape Unlocked Watergate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two years ago this morning, security guard Frank Wills found masking tape on a door leading into the Watergate office building and called the cops.

That event changed Richard Nixon's life and put the word Watergate into the history books.

It was about 2 a.m. Sgt. Paul Leeper, and officers Carl Shofler and John Barrett answered Wills' call and searched the building. Barrett saw the shadow of a man outside a sixth-floor office and yelled, "Hold it, come out!"

"They got us," someone whispered into a walkie-talkie. Five men wearing blue surgical gloves stood up, their hands raised. "Are you gentlemen metropolitan police?" asked James McCord, a security officer of the Committee to Re-Elect the President who was arrested in the office of Democratic party chairman Lawrence O'Brien.

The "third-rate burglary" — as White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler later called it — has become one of the most extensively investigated crimes of our time, a politically-motivated caper with the unreal quality of a spy novel.

The trail of the arrested men led to the White House, to the President's most trusted advisers, and recent public opinion polls indicate that many of the same people who overwhelmingly returned Nixon to the White House that year — before the rest of the scandal unfolded — now favor his impeachment.

FRANK WILLS
Called the police

A year ago today, former White House counsel John W. Dean III was getting ready to tell his story to the Senate Watergate Committee. He testified that Nixon knew of the cover-up, even participated.

There are still unanswered questions about the break-in. No one has ever said for sure what the burglars wanted, and whoever knows won't tell.

O'Brien apparently was the target. Asked about the information the burglars wanted, deputy GOP campaign director Jeb Magruder said O'Brien was "certainly from our standpoint, their most professional political operator, (who) could be very difficult in the coming campaign. So we had hoped that information might discredit him."

Magruder told the Senate Watergate Committee this break-in was part of a plan proposed by G. Gordon Liddy, a former FBI agent and CRP employee. His partner was E. Howard Hunt, a former CIA agent and spy novelist who saw himself as "a member of a special investigations unit, later known as the plumbers, which the President had created to undertake specific national security tasks for which the traditional investigative agencies were deemed to be inadequate."

Hunt said the reason for the break-in was, according to Liddy, "that he had information, the source of which I understood to be a government agency, that the Cuban government was supplying funds to the Democratic Party campaign."

Other burglars had been recruited by Hunt in early 1971. Some were "plumbers." They were Cuban-Americans who remembered the Bay of Pigs and seemed like characters out of spy novels: Frank Sturgis, Eugenio Martinez, Virgilio Gonzalez and Bernard L. Barker, who explained himself this way in the Senate Watergate hearings: "E. Howard Hunt, under the name of Eduardo, represents to the Cuban people their liberation. I cannot deny my services in the way that it was proposed to me on a matter of national security knowing that, with my training, I had personnel available for this type of operation."

On May 27, 1972, one of these teams — the exact members remain unknown — broke into Democratic National Committee offices and tapped a series of phones.

Across the street, in Room 419 of Howard Johnson's motel, sat former FBI agent Alfred Baldwin III, eavesdropping and taping what he heard.

But the tap on the phone they wanted — O'Brien's — didn't work right, so on June 17, 1972, they went back. Barker, Martinez, Sturgis and Gonzalez checked into $38-a-night rooms at the Watergate Hotel next door. Sometime that night, McCord put tape on a door from the garage into the office building.

Wills, a 24-year-old guard, found it and took it off. He dismissed it, figuring it had been done by maintenance men, and went out for coffee. The surprised burglars decided to break in anyway. They put on another strip of light-colored masking tape, a device burglars use to keep a door from locking. Wills found it again and placed his call.
